Foreword

WITH STRONG hopes that this volume may help to keep alive the golden friendships and associations that we have formed as students at Kalamazoo, we have gathered that material which we believed to be most truly representative of our college life. Some day, we hope, you may turn these pages and let the heart and mind wander back through the gates to the priceless college days of merry youth.

Please overlook its faults, magnify its merits, and accept this book as our tribute of love for Kalamazoo College from the class of 1926.

Dedication

TO ELMER CUMMINGS GRIF-FITH, head of the Department of Economics of Kalamazoo College, scholar, professor and gentleman; a man who in three short years at Kalamazoo, has, by his boundless energy, his unflinching loyalty, his capacity for service, and his sterling character, left an impression on the institution that serves as a constant inspiration for every student, we dedicate this, The 1925
Boiling Pot, as an appreciation of his remarkable genius, of his unequalled courtesy, and his unbending loyalty.

ADVERTISEMENTS

He said—

"This is Bowen Hall, the main administration building. Believe me I've had some good times in classes here. We have Chapel every day way up there on the third floor; it's the one time during the day when we all get a chance to see everybody else."

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"This one's the Annex. You see we got rather big for Bowen and kinda overflowed on the edges. They had to do something quick so they built this. We had lots of fun at first calling it the "Simpsonian Institute" and making wise cracks at it but it looks rather pretty now with all those bushes around it."

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"This is Williams Hall, the men's dorm. I've sure done some hard crammin' in that place, but you ought to hear the ol' eagle roar when eight or ten of us fellows get together up there. Not so good looking but it's been home to me for the best part of four years."

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"This is Wheaton Lodge, one of the girls' dorms. We always send the Frosh over here to serenade the girls. The girls are usually pretty handy with the cold water. I don't blame 'em though, the singing is somethin' fierce."

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"Yes, this is Stockbridge Hall the other girls' dorm. Big isn't it? Used to be part of a big estate. It's swell inside too. I guess the girls that live here have some pretty good times together."

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"This is the Gym. Say, you ought to see the championship banners we've got hung up in there. Everything from tiddly-winks to football. We've cleaned up an awful pile of trophies at this school. We've got—Gee!—What's that noise? I guess it's that locker room bunch that think they can sing. Awful isn't it?"

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"Here's our Athletic field where we have all our games. Let me tell you that when you see those bleachers going strong right after the gang has gone across for a touchdown then you're seeing something and also you're liable to hear something that doesn't sound like any mouse squeak either."

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

He said—

"Now here's the view that suits me most of all. The old campus looks pretty swell from here, especially when the leaves are partly off the trees so that you can see Bowen and the Dorm up through there. You know I want to graduate all right but the thought of leaving makes me feel a little lumpy in the throat. I guess it's because it's so—"

And She said—

"Wonderful!"

JULIA MARGARET BARBER

South Haven

Chemistry

"Judy" represents the traditional woman who loves a good argument above all things. When her mind is set it is rather difficult to change it. Fortunately, her considerate temperment causes her to choose to set her mind on the good things of life.

HAROLD DUANE BEADLE

Augusta

Political Science

Gol-Ding and Brass Cymbals! Enter, the wielder of the "Intellectual Gavel", orator, debater, musician(?), and leader, that's Harold. With a firm belief in himself and the Republican party, he can't be stopped.

EDNA LAVERNE BISS

Quietly and unassumingly she moves about astonishing her friends with her wealth of intellect.

ERNEST WALTER CASLER

Ovid

History

"Ernie" has done everything from dispensing peanuts at a penny a throw to singing tenor in the "torture trio". A man certainly has to work hard to support the crowds that are captivated by those pink cheeks and innocent eyes.

HELEN A. CHAPMAN

Walled Lake

Chemistry

Helen is like the great still waters which reflect the most beautiful in nature while, underneath a strong current of life is steadily moving preventing all possibilities of stagnation.

ADRIENNE LOUISE CHENEY

Jackson

French

Science and its followers seem to have a peculiar lure for her. Adrienne is not the bombastic type but she has accumulated a world of knowledge here and there.

WILFRED FRANKLIN CEAPP

Detroit

French

This noble youth of cherubic countenance and honorable intentions matriculated to get an education. Did he get it? Ask him. That was not the only thing that "Bill" picked up in four years of school. We bet that she is a good cook or else he would still be living at the dorm.

FREDERICK WOOD DESAUTELS

Detroit

Greek, History

To Fred goes the title of "Friend of Man". Sincerity and loyalty mixed with a sense of humor and ability for leadership, mean sure success for Fred.

DOROTHY GRACE DOCKHAM

St. Johns

French

Dorothy has a winsome smile that softens the hardest hearts. With perfect self-confidence she performs her duties in a quiet, sure way, characteristic of herself.

CARLETON EDWARD DOYLE

Belding

Economics

"Tom" is a fine example of the all-around student. He says that he has to dig, but we know that he always strikes gold when he recites.

CLAIR HAROLD EMERSON

Watervliet

Chemistry

Chemistry formulae,—square roots—and cornet solos. This quiet youth wants to be a scientist. If Pasteur is remembered longer than Emerson, it will be because Pasteur had the funnier face and not because of his work.

RAYMOND H. FORD

Detroit

Greek

Ray is going to be a preacher. A hard-working, conscientious debater such as he is has every reason to be optimistic about a platform career.

RAY FORMAN

Belding

Chemistry

"Joie" will long be remembered for his deeds on the cinder paths. But after they forget about his great running they are going to remember him as a fine type of the athletic-scholar.

ROSCOE JAMES FORTNER

Kalamazoo

Chemistry

Look out for that smile. He'll try to sell you something. Roscoe has sold everything from Chinese Bibles to advertising for the "Index". Cheerful and possessing real ability he presents himself as a plump sacrifice to the cruel world.

BENJAMIN GOLDMAN

"Peck" just bubbles over. Her sparkling personality penetrates into the darkest corners and awakens a keen response. The way she drives her Ford is characteristic of herself. Always on the move, she is one not soon to be forgotten.

BURR MARSH HATHAWAY

St. Johns

Chemistry

Burr buries himself away in his studies and we hear but little of him until commencement time, then he always gathers in a bunch of prizes as reward for his brilliance.

WENDELL MARCY HERRON

Grand Rapids

Spanish

Four years ago "Breeze" blew into Kazoo stoney broke. Within three hours he had resold his chapel tickets at 40% profit; started a second hand book store, and read six Spanish books. After two years he had enough to enable him to get married, and, we have ten good dollars that say that "Breeze" will never be hen-pecked.

LAWRENCE HECTOR HOLLANDER

Kalamazoo

Economics

Height and quiet dignity at first made us believe that Lawrence was inapproachable. It was not long before we found that beneath this quietness was a sociable man, possessing qualities of humor and sympathy that have made him a worthy friend and a loyal student.

JOHN D. HOSLER

Ever faithful as a friend, determined in all that she does, Helen enjoys life as it comes.

CARL J. NINKE

South Haven

Chemistry

An unassuming, courteous gentleman. If hard work and application are two fundamentals of success, Carl will reach an enviable position.

KENNETH ZELOTAS OSBORN

Coldwater

Economics

This good-natured youth is one of these rare beings in which is combined the student and the athlete. While a member of the track team "Zeke" managed to kick dust in the eyes of the state's best distance runners and no one doubts his ability to lead the field in whatever work he may try his hand.

ORSON MERRILL PETERSON

History

Aileen seldom becomes excited but rather takes life as it comes. Her eyes are pools of innocence seaching out the truth in other souls.

CLARENCE LOUIS REMYNSE

Kalamazoo

Economics

We've all heard of "ham and eggs" and "Trade and Mark" the two Smith Brothers and many other famous pairs, but here we present Clarence of the firm of "Remyse and Schuur". "The man well pressed is the man well dressed" is his slogan.

PEARL IRENE ROSS

Plainwell

Biology

Pearl is good-natured, kind, and always ready to lend a helping hand when work is to be done.

WILLIAM SCHUUR

Kalamazoo

Economics

"Bill" is the other member of "Remynse and Schuur, Inc." He has worked hard and has done his college work in three years and a half. As a result of his studiousness we have heard little from "Bill".

DOROTHY CHRISTINE SCOTT

Vicksburg

French, History

"Scottie" presents one of the most outstanding personalities in the school. With an unflinching sense of right and wrong, a will-power which brings her out victorious, and a sense of humor that sets the world aright, she goes her way, leaving traces of her life on those she meets.

DOROTHY MARGARET SCOTT

Kalamazoo

French, History

Here is sweetness personified. Her smile never fades no matter what the situation may be. Her charm increases the more she is known.

MIRIAM FRANCES SIKKENG

Kansas City, Mo.

Spanish

Frances has a very logical and calculating mind. She is true to the traditions of her state and takes nothing for granted. It is her hobby to probe into things and learn the truth.

ROBERT EDWARD STEIN

Des Moines, Iowa

Economics

Singer(?), debater and sign painter! Enter Mr. Robert Stein. Bob comes from the wild and wooly west and is endowed with a large vocabulary, the wander-lust, and a need for prolonged and deep slumber. Success will be his if he isn't sleeping when she knocks at the door.

ROGER S. THOMPSON

Detroit

Economics

A cheerful fellow with a host of friends, Roger has but one weakness and that has expressed itself in an insane desire to want to pay a woman's board bill for life. He is a living example of the havoc wrought by Dan Cupid.

DEE TOURTELOTTE

Fennville

Chemistry

Dee is intellectual, reliable, and original. Any day he can be seen reading the latest production of "Ring Lardner", or glancing over the new "Whiz-Bang". He's an awful nice fellow—Helen said so.

HAROLD ALLEN VOORHEES

Midland

Mathematics

"Casey" is an exceptional man on the basketball floor, the gridiron and the diamond. He is also a crack student and between tasks he twirls a mean baton for the band.

RUTH WATEROUS

Kalamazoo

French

Ruth is the ultra-modern girl. Things are six months old to her when others just begin to think about them. She is so practical in all she does that people often mistake her for cold and distant but, beneath the surface is a truly sympathetic heart.

ANNE WHEAT BENNETT

Kalamazoo

English Literature

Anne simply buzzes with original ideas and possesses the ability to carry them out. She is ever faithful as a friend and true to her beliefs.

MARGARET ELEANOR WILLIAMSON Kalamazoo
French

Sufficient proof that red hair does not always ruin a person. "Peg" is known for subtle wit and her Irish love for a good joke.

HAROLD LEROY WISE Kalamazoo
Economics

Harold is one of the most unselfish men in school. To his friends he is gracious, to his school he is loyal, and to his girl he is faithful.

MARIE MYRTLE WRIGHT Kalamazoo
Mathematics

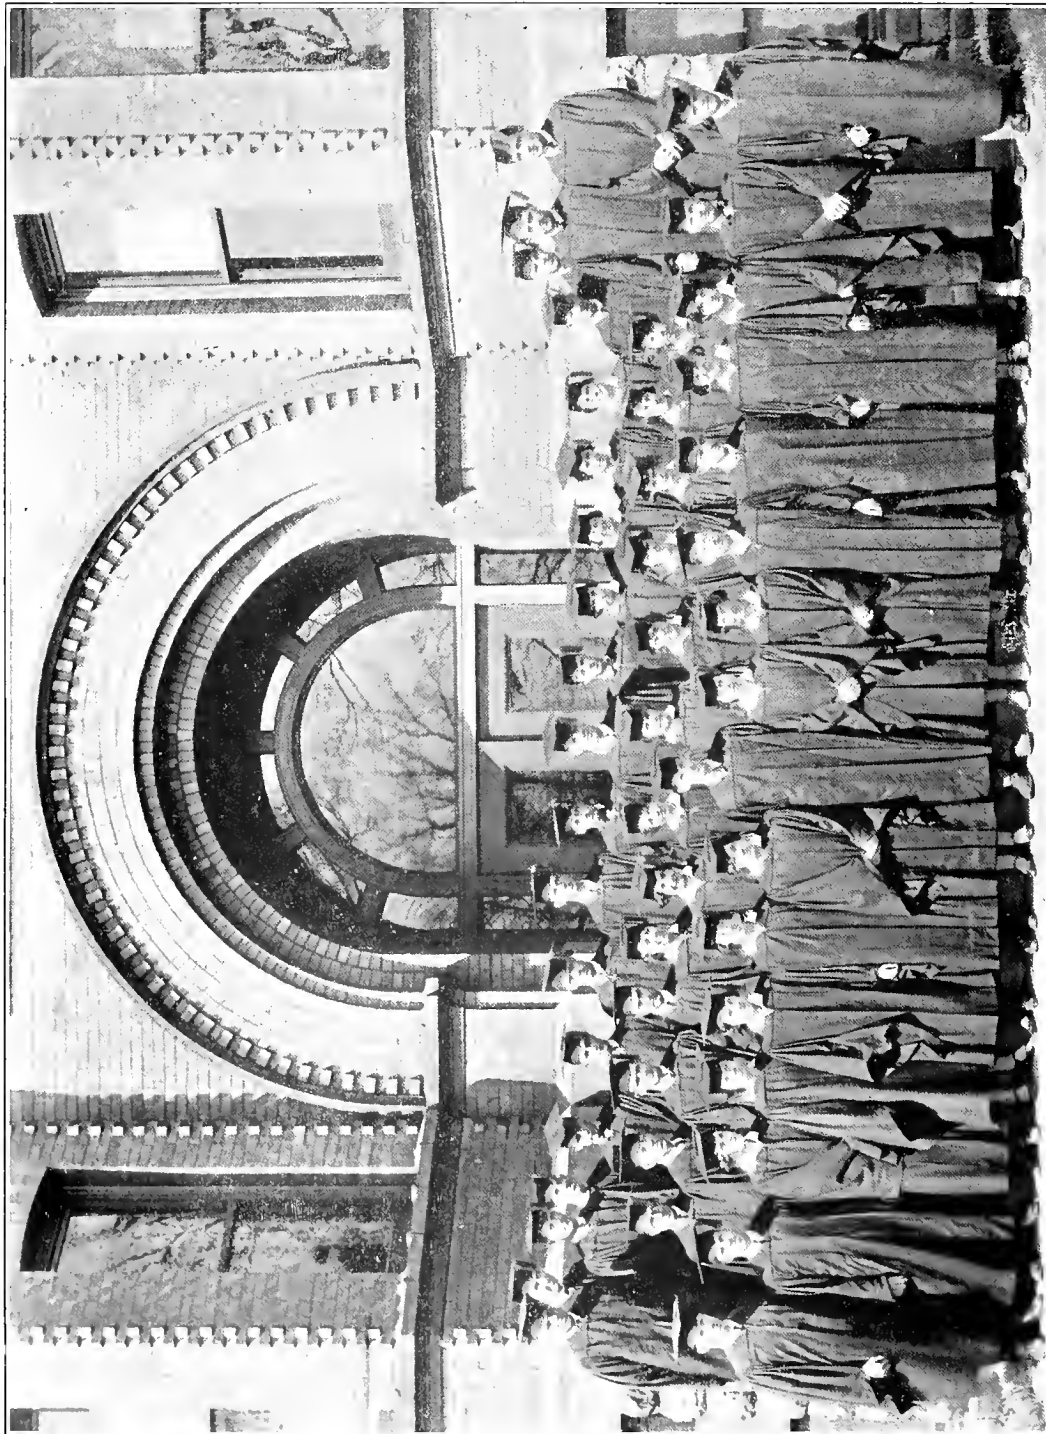

Ever industrious and persevering, Marie overcomes all obstacles with an indomitable courage and comes through with flying colors.

IRENE FLORENCE YERKES Greenville
English Literature

Always preserving her dignity yet seeing the best side of life, Irene is to be remembered as a loyal comrade and a true friend.

History of the Class of '25

On September 19th and 20th, 1921, a great horde of timid, yet determined Freshmen invaded the sacred precincts of Bowen Hall, in order to go through the ceremonies of Matriculation and Registration. This invading host, numbering one hundred and fifty-four, was the largest that had ventured into the Land of the Unknown in the history of this most venerable Institution of Higher Learning, up to that time.

This invading horde even had the timidity to attend chapel on that first Wednesday. But though many of them had undoubtedly purchased seats for this august occasion, the company did have the grace to remain in the back part of the chapel room. This may have been to enable them to beat a hasty retreat if such action were deemed necessary.

Friday evening was the time appointed for the enduring, by old and new students and faculty-members alike, of the "Old Grind," which endurance-contest took place in Bowen Hall. At this time the Frosh met many members of the faculty and student-body for the first time. A multitude of blistered hands, wornout right arms, and bruised fingers were reported after this round of hand-shaking.

A few days later the new inhabitants of William's Hall, then known as the "Dorm", were duly initiated. However, one enterprising Soph got the worst of the deal when, after throwing a fire-cracker through a transom, to rouse a sleeping Frosh, he proceeded to fall through after it, cutting his hand in transit.

The invading band of Freshmen soon realized that they must have leaders if they were to successfully combat the persistent Sophs who seemed determined to make the life of a Freshman just as uncomfortable as possible. Accordingly, elections were held, with the following result:

President, Philip Cook; Vice-President, Howard Vanderberg; Secretary-Treasurer, Millicent Schermerhorn; Senator, Mable Miller.

On October 20th occurred the first pitched battle between the Sophs and the Frosh. This was the day of the Frosh party at West Lake. Of course, it was supposed to be a deep dark secret, but it leaked somehow, and the Sophs knew all about it. The Frosh President was captured at his very door. The Sophs planned on taking him for a nice long ride, but the witty Frosh played sick with such reality that his abductors took him home. However, he was careful not to promise to remain in the house until the next morning. A wild race out to West Lake followed, and the hungry Frosh made the president doubly welcome for the "eats" were in his car. The Sophs soon found their way to the scene of action, and during the ensuing battle seven lusty Sophomores were rudely shocked by receiving a nice cold bath in West Lake. Then they beat a hasty retreat, but not before they had let the air out of most of the tires, spares included, of the Frosh automobiles. The Freshmen then proceeded to enjoy themselves, without further interruption.

However, after they returned to the city, late that night, the age-old tradition of Mirror Lake was broken. Previous to this, it had been considered a disgrace to be thrown into Mirror Lake. But, this night, Merrill Peterson, Harold Knight and Homer Tuesley were given an unexpected ducking in revenge for the defeat of the Sophs at West Lake. From then on, Mirror Lake was just another phase of inter-class warfare.

The following week witnessed the Soph party at Plainwell. Forty Frosh hired a truck for the occasion, but due to the position of the Sophs on the second floor were unable to accomplish much. Their advance upon the Soph strong-hold was blocked by policemen, chairs and water. However, an "egg battle" caused some of the Sophs much discomfort.

During the Fall, two inter-class contests were held. One was a foot-ball game, the outcome of which was 0-0. The other was a polo game, won in the last minutes, by the Sophomores.

November 5th, Homecoming Day, was one of great rejoicing for the Freshman horde. First, it was the day of the Kazoo-Albion game, which was a 7-0 victory for Kazoo. And, on that winning team there were six freshmen; Fred Spurgeon, Rock Fleming, Casey Voorhees, Harold Knight, Albert Krenz, and George Pappin. The evening witnessed a triumphal bon-fire, joyous Freshmen relieved of the green emblem, forever, and a snake dance downtown. From then on, that invading horde of Freshmen was accepted as a part of Kalamazoo College.

In the early spring one member of the class caused much excitement by removing a wart from the back of his hand with some chemical received from the lab, thereby almost burning a hole through his hand. The wart has not had the temerity to reappear.

Further commotion was caused, early in June, by the First Dorm Water Party, unintentionally set off by a serenade given by the girls of Ladies' Hall, now known as Wheaton Lodge.

The next fall, the class now full-fledged Sophomores with the privilege of disciplining unruly Freshmen, returned somewhat weaker in numbers, but stronger in "Pep" and ambition.

At the first chapel of the year, the students were greeted by the new President, Dr. Allan Hoben, who very soon won his way to the hearts of the students, new and old.

Elections were held the first week, the following being elected to lead the class:

President, Fred Spurgeon; Vice-President, Ann Wheat, who became Mrs. Eugene Bennett in February, 1925; Secretary-Treasurer, Gertrude Greene; Senator, Everett Smith.

A few days later, the Freshmen were treated to a dip in Mirror Lake, during which enjoyable time, the Soph president covered himself with mud and glory by plunging into the black waters after a freshman by the name of Melvin Martin, who seemed to be in danger of drowning.

Early in October the Frosh managed to pull the Sophs through Mirror Lake in the last tug-of-war staged on its banks. Some of the Frosh did get wet though, for two of the girls were accidently shoved into the lake. A little later, the Sophs came back and were victorious over the Frosh in a 19-0 football game.

In between the last two events, occurred the historic Battle of Camp Custer, being a conflict between the Sophs and the United States Army plus the Freshmen. In the encounter Earl Wotske cut his hand and had to be rushed to the hospital. Everett Smith and Bob Grant were discovered letting the air out of the tires of the Frosh autos; and consequently had to pump up the tires, and entertain the Frosh with dance and song. Another Soph, dressed in khaki, being mistaken for a Camp laborer, was treated to cider and doughnuts. Upon discovery, he was treated to a little rough handling and some very embarrassing moments, before finally being released. He proved to be Fred DesAutels, who has since become president of the Senate.

A couple of weeks later, the Frosh attempted to break up the Soph party at Goblesville. They merely succeeded in cutting the telephone wires in order to extinguish the acetylene lamps.

At the end of the first semester our president left college and Ann took the responsibility of leading the class. Spurgeon went into professional athletics and this year is starring with the Cleveland "Indians."

The remainder of the year was quiet, the members of the class winning fame and fortune in many lines of endeavor. During this year, Harold Knight distinguished himself as the Kalamazoo orator. He was also elected president of a new organization upon the Campus, the Blackstonians.

In June the members of the class bade farewell to Mirror Lake, for it was doomed to be filled in during the summer.

The Junior year opened with an atmosphere of anxiety and sorrow, for it was reported that our beloved Dean "Tuffy" Williams and his wife had perished in the Japanese earthquake. He had been granted a year's leave of absence and had planned a trip around the world. He had reached Yokohama on the first lap of the trip—and the next news was of the earthquake. After nearly a month had passed, and no word was received, a memorial was held on October tenth. This service made a living memory of Dean "Tuffy."

"His words were oaks in acorns; and his thoughts
Were roots that firmly gript the granite truth."

Early in the year the Juniors had held elections choosing Harold Beadle as President; Helen Chapman, as Vice-President; Cecile Pratt as Secretary-Treasurer; and Fred DesAutels as Senator. All the energies of the somewhat depleted class were bent toward the issuing of the 1924 BOILING POT. The finished product was well worth any time and trouble that it cost.

In November a class party was held in the metropolis of Augusta. A "delightful time was enjoyed by all those present."

In the Spring, ground was broken for the new Dormitory for Women. A dream was coming true.

Before commencement the Senior officers were chosen, being Casey Voorhees, President; Marguerite Hall, Vice-President; Margaret Williamson, Secretary; Dorothy C. Scott, Treasurer; and Fred DesAutels, Senator.

The social affairs of the Senior Class have been few and far between owing to the extreme busy-ness of this august group. In the fall, an all-college dance was given, in an attempt to clear the class debt.

At the beginning of the last semester, a sleigh ride party was held. Of course, it began to thaw the day the party was announced, but there was enough snow left to make the party a most enjoyable affair—in spite of the rain.

Just this last week, a number of the Seniors were entertained by the faculty at an informal dinner. It was most encouraging to hear these most dignified professors tell about their first jobs and how they got them.

The class of twenty-five claims distinction along many lines. It numbers 52—the largest class to be graduated thus far in the history of the College. It has six married people, none of whom is married to a member of the class. It has one engaged couple, and four people engaged to folks who are not seniors. It counts within its ranks, six debaters and one orator. Other individuals have distinguished themselves in many lines of action, too numerous to mention here. This class has been one of individual rather than group activities.

Just a few weeks more, and the class of 1925 will be but another chapter in the history of Kalamazoo College.

We came, we saw, and we were conquered by the Spirit of Old Kazoo.

AILEEN D. RADKEY, Class Historian.

Class Will

We, the Senior Class of Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, being of sound mind and body, being perfectly alert as to our excellent and most superior ability, realizing the futility of others daring to hope to attain the dizzy heights held by us, do make, publish, and declare this to be our last will and testament and do hereby revoke any and all former wills heretofore executed by us.

Part I. All unpaid debts (such as Camp Custer broken windows) be taken care of from the Junior Class fund.

Part II. To the Faculty of said Kalamazoo College we will and bequeath the following items:

Item 1. Our sincere gratitude for their untiring help throughout our four years of turmoil here.

Item 2. To Dr. Bachelor we bequeath a silent policeman to help keep the drive-ways free.

Item 3. To Professor Smith we leave the first sign of spring. "Hail to Thee Blithe Spirit!"

Part III. To the Student Body of Kalamazoo College we bequeath the following:

Item 1. To the Juniors we leave the honor of marching out first from chapel.

Item 2. To the Sophomores we leave two years to be added on—then they will have reached our heights.

Item 3. To the Frosh we leave and bequeath courage,—we were there once.

Part IV. Furthermore, we bequeath individually the following:

Item 1. Dorothy C. Scott bequeaths her sweet, queenly dignity to Pauline Ovaatt. She does not have to be of age to receive this.

Item 2. Ben Goldman leaves his roving eyes to Ben Desenberg.

Item 3. Pearl Ross asks that her remains be shipped to Ann Arbor; everything else to be left to "Squee" Wilson.

Item 4. Mable Miller leaves her promptness to Evelyn Pinel.

Item 5. Ernest Casler leaves for Doc. Kerry all his Normal girls.

Item 6. Wendell Herron would like to leave his arbitrary nature to Ledlie DeBow.

Item 7. Margaret Williamson bequeaths her skinny way to Esther Pratt.

Item 8. Helen Murray leaves her motor car to Bob Calvin. It deserves good driving.

Item 9. Ray Forman leaves his running ability to Edgar Schmalzriedt.

Item 10. Robert Pheil leaves his blue sweater to Charles Putnam.

Item 11. Julia Barber leaves her chemistry knowledge to Knox Wicks.

Item 12. Harold Emerson leaves the band to Pete Hessmer.

Item 13. Merrill Peterson asks that Levi Dipple be undisputed women's referee.

Item 14. Tom Doyle leaves his wealth of knowledge in Spanish to be divided equally between Genevieve Wildermuth, Knox Wicks and "Ronce" Glezen.

Item 15. Roger Thompson leaves his masterful way with a woman to Tim Meulenberg.

Item 16. Edna Biss, Helen Chapman, Dorothy Dockham, Mary Lindenthal, and Adrienne Cheney leaves Stockbridge Hall to Bob Black and Helen Going, and to Pop Allison Skeen and Ruby Herbert. May they not be disturbed.

Item 17. Dee Tourtelotte leaves his garrulous nature to Charles Garrett.

Item 18. Harold Voorhees leaves his athletic ability to Reimers Peters.

Item 19. Cecile Pratt leaves her ability to string the profs to Bus Glezen. It'll save him a year.

Item 20. Peter Bosker asks that Donald Anderson be given four inches of his height.

- Item 21. Aileen Radkey and Fred DesAutels leave the Wheaton Lodge path to Mildred Gang and Wendell Hobbs.
- Item 22. Mrs. Carl leaves her tallness to Ruth Chadderdon.
- Item 23. Carl Ninke bequeaths his talkative nature to Stewart Newland.
- Item 24. John Hosler leaves his love for early hours to Bob Ludwig.
- Item 25. Zeke Osborn leaves his boisterous manner to Loren Burch.
- Item 26. Roscoe Fortner leaves his Normal acquaintances to Al. Bridgman.
- Item 27. Bill Praeger leaves his long college life to the Freshmen.
- Item 28. Ruth Waterous leaves her bluffing ability to Eloise Rickman.
- Item 29. Ann Wheeler Wheat Bennett leaves her knack of getting one to Bertha Briggs.
- Item 30. Bob Stein leaves his Dramatic Club membership to Willett Osborne.
- Item 31. Freeman Brown leaves everything to his wife.
- Item 32. Evelyn Phillips leaves her French to Professor Bacon.
- Item 33. Marion Moag leaves her soothing voice to Mary Gleason.
- Item 34. Frances Sikkenga bequeaths her place in the Methodist choir to Helen Stone.
- Item 35. Wilfred Clapp leaves to all the motto, "Stay free while you may."
- Item 36. Ray Ford leaves all to his uncle Henry.
- Item 37. Marie Wright bequeaths her smile to Professor Simpson.
- Item 38. Leonard Lang leaves his khaki shirt to Pinkey Ludwig.
- Item 39. Lawrence Hollander leaves his quiet and submissive manner to Donald Draper.
- Item 40. Pat McCarthy leaves his Irish blarney to Professor Praeger.
- Item 41. Irene Yerkes leaves her literary thirst to Shirley Payne.
- Item 42. Dorothy M. Scott bequeaths her dimutiveness to Edwina Brezette.
- Item 43. William Schuur and Clarence Remyense leave their ability to go through college in three and a half years to the Freshmen.
- Item 44. Harold Wise leaves his flivver to the college. We need a new one anyway.
- Item 45. Harold Beadle leaves his mumps to Fred Kraushaar.
- Item 46. Burr Hathaway leaves his scientific knowledge to Ann Johnson

We hereby nominate and appoint Dean Herman Severn as executor of this our last Will and Testament, hoping to further test his great patience, and request that he shall not be required to give any security for his trust.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and affixed our seal on this twenty-second day of April in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-five.

(Signed)

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1925.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, a notary public, in and for Kalamazoo County, Michigan, this twenty-second day of April, A. D., 1925.

M. Marguerite Hall.

Prophecy

KALAMAZOO, MICHIGAN, MAY 29, 1935

Dear Goldie:

There has some time relapsed since I have wrote you and I have seen and done so much that I despair of ever telling you all of it. Since I have been married I have been at my rope's end trying to find means by which I can keep the inheritance tax down for my heirs. You should see my trunks! They are just covered with all manner of stickers, including those of hotels and steamship lines the world over. In my wanderings about this mortal coil, as W. Shakespeare used to call it, I have met nearly all of the class of 1925 who I met while slinging hash at old Wheaton (no pun intended). If I do say it myself I have done much better than some of them have in the years which have gone by, I suppose it's my fatal beauty.

I scarcely know where to begin, but I must tell you all what I have seen and did. You know I told you that I was determined to see the world after James died. At that time some people were unkind enough to say that my cooking hastened his end, but enough of that. Well, I signed for a full voyage on the World cruise of the steamship Kleptomania of the Dollar Line and sailed from "Little Old New York," as I have dubbed it, on the first of last March. We had the most wonderful steward, perhaps you will remember him. He is now going under a consumed name, but I used to know him as Raymond Ford. And I must tell you! I ran across Breeze Herron in New York, or rather the taxi driver did. Breeze is a traffic cop in the big city and looks so stunning in his uniform.

I shan't bore you with the trip itself altho I had some very delightful intrigues with several of the attractive male members of our party. I must mention, however, that I was greatly surprised to learn that Bob Stein was a fellow passenger. He was traveling sewerage to create a democratic feeling, he was heard to remark. He spent so much time advising the Captain that I did not get a chance to speak to him until he landed. He debarked at Rangoon, Burma with a shipment of chewing gum which he was delivering. "Every user of the deadly betel nut is a prospective customer," he said with his characteristic optimism as we waved each other a tearful farewell. Of course, I could not pass up a chance of visiting what I call "Gay Paree", and I met loads of old acquaintances. Adrienne Cheney came to my apartment when she heard in the papers that I had arrived. She married an old Kazoo grad and is quietly settled in France where her meal ticket is engaged in consular service. You know Roscoe Fortner, whom we knew affectionately as Soup-Bone? He has a delightful little cafe in the Place Pig Alley. In all my born days I never tasted such onion soup as he puts up! My dear! You could have knocked me over with the proverbial feather when I bumped into Mary Lindenthal in the Bois de Bologne. She is engaged as tutor and governess for an aristocratic French family and has complete charge over the offspring. It was my pleasure to purchase several charming frocks from a shop run by Mlle. Miriam. When I knew her she was Frances Sikkenga, from Kansas City, Missouri.

It would not do to leave the continent without having visited Monte Carlo. Imagine my chagrin when I found the tables closed indefinitely, I had expected to win so much. The rumor was current that an American hosiery buyer, named Robert Pfeil, had completely broken the bank. There is no sense in wanton destruction, I trust that he was dealt with severely for his actions. There was, notwithstanding, an attraction calculated to appeal to the English speaking tourists. Ringling Brother's Circus was here on a continental tour. It sure seemed good to hear the crackle of peanuts and laugh unrestrainedly at the antics of the clowns. There was a couple of acrobats which did all their stuff from swings hung to the ceiling of the big top and which held me spellbound. I thought that I would pass out when I found that they were Dorothy Margaret Scott and Marguerite Hall! It was like a check from home to see them. After the main show was over I was strolling around looking at the freaks pictured in the gaudy posters outside the side shows on the midway when I was startled by a sound of a familiar voice. Looking up, I gazed straight into the awe-struck visage of Roger Thompson. He jumped down and greeted me most cordially. We went into his show and he introduced me to the Bearded Lady and other attractions whose praises he shouted. Picture my surprise when I found that she, the Bearded Lady, was none other than Dee Tourtellotte! Oh my dear!

I had to hurry away in order to make the boat train to Marseilles, but I found that it had already gone so I booked passage with an aeroplane. Had I not already become used to shock, I could have fainted when I found that our pilot was Joey Ray Forman! When we got to Marseilles I could scarcely breathe, the excitement of the day had been almost too much for me. Poor dear James! How grateful I am to him for leaving me so well fixed financially! You never appreciate a husband until he is gone, I have always said.

Of course there were interesting things to do and see wherever the ship put in, but there is not time to tell everything. In Port Said I met several men of the Mohamedan faith. They are so attractive and compelling! It is too bad that they are so narrow in their religion, but we hope to convert them to the cause of civilization, less cumbersome clothes and soft foods. I learned that Zelotas Osborn was working toward this end as a missionary in Afghanistan. We passed out through the Indian Ocean and Malay Straits and put in at several of the small islands of the Polynesian group of the Pacific. At one of them I learned of the recent departure of Aileen Radkey. It appears that she was there getting a setting and a little local color for a new novel. You perhaps have heard that she has become known as the "American Elinor Glyn." When we lifted anchor and steamed out of the narrow channel through the coral reef we passed a fleet of native out-riggers belonging to the pearl divers. I am positive that I recognized the face of Leonard Patrick McCarthy as he poised for a moment in the prow of his boat before slipping gracefully beneath the azure waters in search of bivalves or wolusks. Cross word puzzles are so broadening, don't you think?

For fourteen days and fourteen moonlit nights we slid through the dark, placid waters of the Pacific on our way back to the States. I could hardly wait to get back where movies are not called "cinemas", and where French is used exclusively on the menus in Greek restaurants. When, in the evenings, I saw the passengers strolling lazily about the decks in groups of two, I was only too conscious of the fact that carelessness in regard to what I eat has somewhat dissipated my former pulchritudinous preeminence. I resolved then and there to start on a rigid diet. The bloke who said that all the world loves a fat man was all wet as far as we ribs are concerned. My husband always adored my chin, so to please him I grew another one. As I saw all that billing and cooing I resolved to put my case in the hands of that eminent plastic surgeon, Dr. Leonard Lang, and that, as soon as I got home. Speaking of my face reminds me that Mable Miller is now a cosmetician with a well established business in Peoria, Illinois.

It was late on a Thursday afternoon in August when we sailed slowly through the mists enshrouding Golden Gate into San Francisco Harbor. I was so glad to see home soil that I could have eaten it. After we were hauled alongside the pier by a couple of puffy little tug boats I was forced to submit my luggage and personal effects to the exacting scrutiny of the customs officials. The unreasonable brutes taxed me outrageously for some little jewelled trinkets that I picked up in Leon and some scraps of lace from Brussels. I never could abide a busy-body who was continually prying into other people's business. Had I been a man I surely would have given them a generous portion of my mind.

I registered at the Seldom Inn and set out to see China town at night under the guidance of a man, mind you. It is so dark and smelly there, especially along Clay Street where the cheaper shops are. I could have passed out when I recognized my protector as Bill Praeger when we came into the bright lights of Market Street. Greatly to my dismay he refused any pay for his services, saying that he did it just for a diversion from the arduous toil of his lumber camp over in the Nevada hills. Cecile Pratt had registered at my hotel during my absence. She had made a hurried trip to Frisco to avoid the advances of Mack Sennett. It was scarcely nine o'clock, so we made up our minds and complexions to attend a real honest to goodness vaudeville. They had announced a revival of the old Weber and Fields skit on Oscar und Adolph. Laugh, I thought I'd die! The actors were none other than Clarence Remyse and Bill Schuur. Another highly advertised act and most enjoyable was Prof. Carl Ninke at the mighty console. You would not think that a bunch of pipes could produce the music which swelled from that outfit. Cecile told me that a revival of the Chauve Souris was also playing in town, starring Evelyn Phillips, recently of the Ballet Russe. I should have adored seeing her but I had to leave for Los Angeles the next morning.

Los is a big town like Detroit, only more so. I had a most fascinating time while there looking up old friends. My good resolution of several weeks before had lost me seven pounds, but with all the sumptuous dinners which I could not resist attending, I quite forgot my stoic abstention from rich foods, a fact to which the scales attested. I heard so much about so many of the people I once knew that I can't begin to tell even the half of it. You would be surprised at the inroads Hollywood has made on our old acquaintances. John Hosler burst upon me and apprised me that he was kept very busy doubling for Rudolph Valentino and Ben Turpin. Grace Jackson and Helen Chapman are engaged in doing a series of Tish pictures from the stories of Mary Roberts Rhinehart. They have as their favorite camaraman Freeman Brown, I am told. Julia Barber is also out there, doing some society dramas under the direction of Harold Emerson. I met Pete Peterson at a concert in the Hollywood Bowl. He is routing manager for the Seven Sutherland Sisters. I learned from him that Burr Hathaway is engaged in the capacity of press agent for Mae Murray. My dear, I was so enthralled with the glamour of the life in and around Hollywood that I almost decided to stay myself and go into pictures. I should have, had it not been for the fact that several producers told me that work was rather dull and to return later. They seemed to feel that they would be doing me a favor were they to give me a bit. Personally I think that their actions were motivated by the catty jealousy of their other feminine leads. Thanks to poor James I am not dependent upon prostituting my Thespian ability for a livelihood.

I went to Reno from Los and met Lawrence Hollander there. He is the Judge in the Court of Domestic Relations, and said he was enjoying a busy season. He told me that Dorothy C. Scott had recently been to see him, but would not tell me her mission. Having a common interest with others whose tonsorial adornment are of the Titian hue, he confided to me that Margaret Williamson and Helen Murray had been deported as violent Reds. Their deportation was at the instigation of Ben Goldman who is Grand Exalted Wizard of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. I really did not intend to digress into such a comprehensive discussion on colors, I must tell you about some of the others.

The long overland journey is so tedious, but the tedium was somewhat relieved for me by an acquaintance with a very handsome middle aged representative of the opposite sect, as Ring Lardner says. He was going to a meeting of some highbrow college organization in Chicago and told me some things in which you will be interested. He was very anticipative of the good he was to derive from the address of a Miss Dorothy Dockham, nationally famous public school superintendent in Cicero, Illinois; and that of Irma Carl, National Director of Physical Education in the Public Schools. You knew them, of course.

Once in Chicago I lost my very identity so interested was I in showing some of my old friends how well I did when I plunged into the sea of matrimony with one twice my years. Poor James could not swim, you know, so I survive him as his sorrowing but grateful widow. Did I ever tell you? He so loved that familiar old tune "Old Hundred!" Out of a desire to fulfill what might have been his last request, I had it sung on the day when we laid him away. It seems that some had come to laugh, rather than to mourn, for when my soloist broke into the first line,—you know, the "Praise God from Whom all Blessings flow,—" some had the brazenness to laugh outright. But I didn't start out to tell you of the joys of my short married existence.

I was hurrying along South State Street when to my astonishment I saw Harold Beadle harranguing a throng in a Jewelry store. On investigation I learned that he was conducting an auction. At my hotel I dropped into the tonsorial parlors to have my hair done over, shampoo, henna rinse, marcel, and a few other little things. When I got the soap out of my eyes, I found that my chirotonsor was none other than Fred DesAutels. Imagine? He was able to tell me of several of those of whom I had as yet heard nothing. The Ajax Steam Heated Door Knob Company claims Wilfred Clapp as one of their most skillful and valued die-sinkers. Tom Doyle is engaged in settlement work among the silk mill girls in Belding. Edna Biss had recently been associated with him but resigned in favor of a five-carat hunk of ice.

After having heard from so many of those I knew, I could not forego the temptation of sojourning back to the old stamping grounds to see what changes the years had wrought. You could never guess who was calling trains in the I. C. station. It was Casey Voorhees! I did not recognize his face at first but his manner was terribly familiar. It was so exciting to get back on the good old M. C. again, I had almost forgotten the exhilaration to be derived from real rapid transit. The first familiar thing which struck my eager optics was a huge poster some distance from town lauding the merits of Kalamazoo celery. Pete Bosker's name was featured in large letters as distributor for the Local Growers' Association.

I arrived in Kalamazoo just in time to see that quaint structure that has so long served as a station fall to ruins under the ravages of fire. Harold Wise spotted me as I alighted from the train and proudly polished the brass eagle of his fireman's helmet on his coat sleeve as he told me of his heroism in the fire which was till smouldering. He offered to drive me about the city on that wonderful big truck with those ladders piled all over it, but I declined in favor of a taxi. There was nothing more urgent than that I should get up on the first hill and see what the vicissitudes of time had brought to the institution where I once served as a hash purveyor. Not a trace of Wheaton remained, but the campus was dotted with small but tastefully constructed homes wherein I learned the faculty were residing. Marion Ruth Moag is preceptress of the dormitory that was still unfinished when I left. We had such a nice chat in the afternoon. She was able to fill in all the gaps left by those I had not seen. She graduated the year I left, you know. I was so glad for Ruth Waterous and Ann Bennett. They are married and still living with their husbands. Later I saw Mrs. Bennett at the newly erected Keith Theater in company with three lovely children. Pearl Ross has resigned herself to a life of celibacy and is devoting all her time and attention to the furtherance of the work of the W. C. T. U. Marie Wright has worked up to the position of Chief Operator in the Kalamazoo exchange of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company; I always thought that she was bound to get ahead of the rest of the field. I thought I'd die when I was told that Ernest Casler has retired to the piece of the rural community that was once his home. He conducts one of the most progressive general merchandising emporiums in the town, I hear.

Well, I must bring this rather lengthy epistolary attempt to an abrupt conclusion and get dressed for dinner. We are going down to a new tea room that has recently opened under the personal supervision of Irene Yerkes. I hope that I haven't bored you with all this minutely recorded inventory of my memory. Here I have spent a whole afternoon writing one letter. Well, poor dear James told me just before he passed away that I always finished whatever I undertook, and he smiled weakly as I gently closed the door.

Your's 'rill Sitting Bull rises,

—AGATHA DOOLITTLE MOORE.

—ROBERT STEIN.

The Pioneer

America, firm paramount of strength,

Embodiment of purest liberty,

Our fathers' visions, hopes, and fervent prayers,

At length fulfilled, are recognized in thee.

Longing for freedom unknown across the sea,

A zealous band with wondrous faith in God,

And thankful hearts, set foot on Plymouth's shore

And trod where white men ne'er before had trod.

Untiringly our pilgrim fathers toiled,

Endured and faced their hardships without fear;

With matchless strength repelled the savage tribes,

Reared rough log homes, and passed the winters drear.

Yet in the struggle 'gainst adversities

Our founder's faith grew stronger, firmer still;

No sorrow greater than his faith could bear,

No task so hard but he should say, "I will."

Great passion in his soul to do the right

To show a strength of will not known 'till then;

Rejoicing in the sacrifice he made,

To serve his God and help his fellowmen.

His work has passed, in trust, to other hands,

To worthy sons who heed their father's call:

And firm in courage, with a vision clear

They seek to shed the light of truth on all.

The "Light of Truth" for us our College stands

Today a pioneer in fields of thought;

Awakener and Guide of youthful souls;

Revealer where the truth of life is sought.

A Light which shines within the souls of men

To banish doubt and cowardice and fear;

Replacing unbelief by living faith,

And filling downcast hearts with hope and cheer.

O constant, glowing Light, shine on for aye

And know thy every beam of radiance clear

Fades not with morning as the moon and stars,

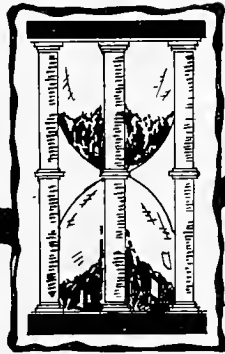

But presses ever on—a pioneer.

DOROTHY C. SCOTT.

KAZOO FIVE DEFEATS HILLSDALE 36 TO 25

Local Clinch Secured Place in M. I. A. A. by Edith Win

Raymond Ford
Circulation Manager

The Kalamazoo Five defeated Hillsdale 36 to 25 in a local clinch. The victory secured a place in the M. I. A. A. tournament. The game was played in the gymnasium. The Kalamazoo Five played well throughout the game. Hillsdale was defeated by a score of 36 to 25.

The Digest

A secret dispatch from Holland discloses the fact that that nation will probably refuse to join the proposed defensive alliance with France, Great Britain, and Belgium to ward off the German aggression. The dispatch is from the Hague, and is dated February 18.

James McLaughlin
Managing Editor

A document which was under examination in Berlin, Germany, last Saturday, discloses the fact that the Bolshevik government of Russia is working $340,000 to the United States in an effort to turn that country into a Red National. The money is to be spent at the rate of $25,000 monthly with an additional $40,000 for beginning the work. The money will be distributed by three agents, "Wash. Berg, Forester, and Shaktik." The document also discloses that the Bolshevik government has recently the Soviet government had stated that all communist propaganda and organizations in America had been abandoned as a hopeless experiment.

Lucy Menon
Reporter

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the work is the substance of the League of Nations that it has failed in handling the Austrian situation. It is generally conceded that Austria can no longer be an independent nation. The League of Nations has failed to create an independent Austria. It is expected that the League Council meets early in March, and will be taken up in an attempt to join Austria with some other power. Anticipating some such move, the Great Powers have all been busy suggesting plans which they claim will be best for Austria, but which, in reality, are rather to do those who are in the wrong.

KAZOO LUGG LUGG GAME TO ALMA FIVE

Championship Aspirations Receive Severe Shock

Albert Hakensom
Reporter

The victory precluded the chance of a more accurate season of Alma's chances for championship status. The Presbyterians cut loose with their close and rapid advancement to completely outclass the Kalamazoo. It is doubtful, however, whether this score is a true estimate of the relative growth of the two teams. This will be demonstrated when Alma plays in the final game of February 27.

KAZOO LEADS STATE LEAGUE WITH TWO VICTORIES

Ledlie DeBow
Reporter

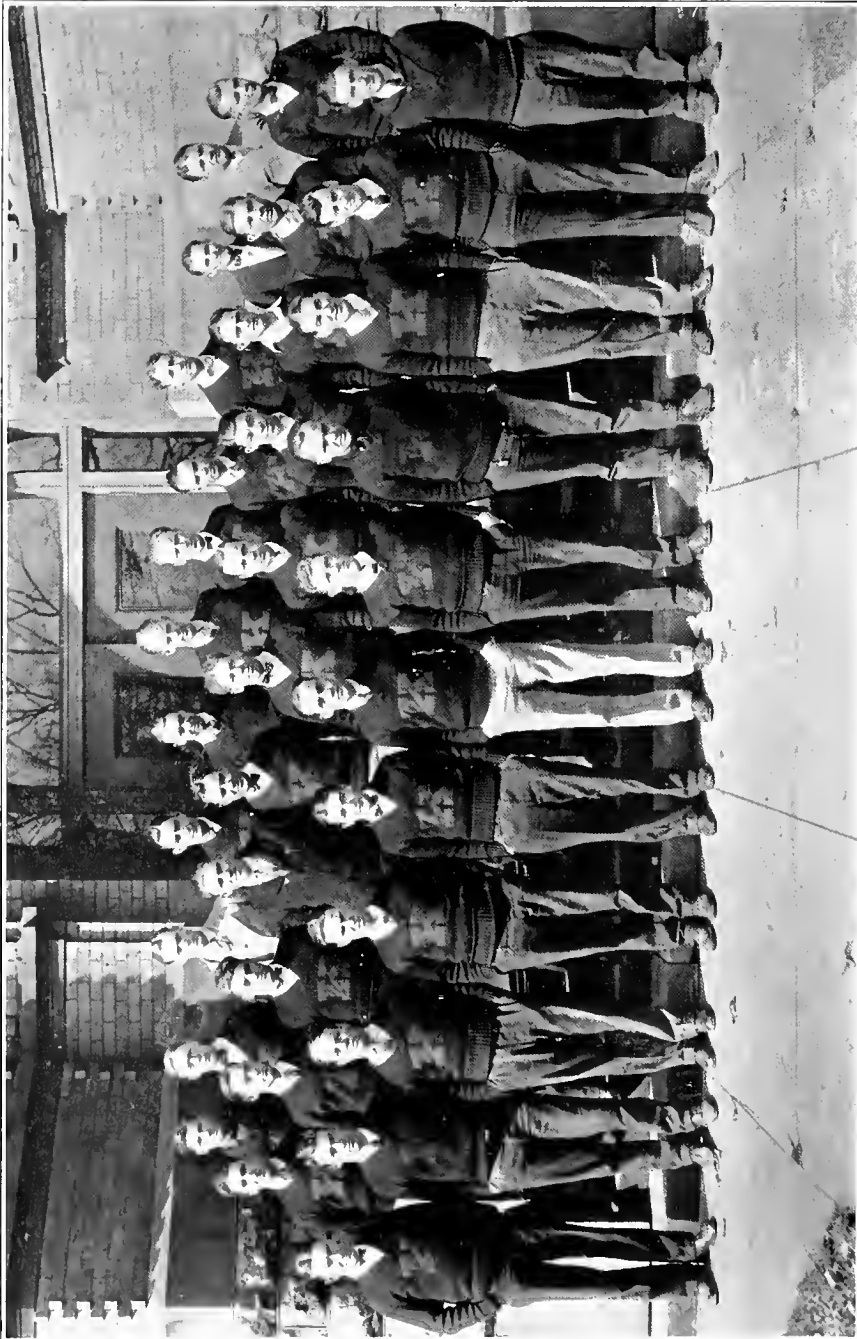

The argument for the advantage was spread by Gold Fox. Although it was his first appearance on the debate platform Mr. Fox made an excellent showing and well undoubtedly be a very valuable man in the department of foreman in the future. The five-point argument was continued by Mr. McLaughlin in his usual convincing and forceful manner. Mr. McLaughlin it will be remembered, captured one of the Freshmen debate prizes last year which was a very valuable prize.

Helen Murray
Reporter

With a team composed of six members who never before had played to a match game, the Alpha Sigma lost their first game to the Kappa Pi society, 20 to 5. The Alpha Sigma had only two weeks of practice in which to form a team that would compete with the experienced and consistently working Kappa Pi.

Student Volunteer

"The Evangelism of the World in this Generation" has been the watchword that has kept the purpose of the Student Volunteer Movement steadfast. The Student Volunteers are college students and faculty members who have declared it their purpose to become foreign missionaries, if God permit. The work in this institution was begun in 1885, about a year after the National Student Volunteer Movement was organized. Since that time the group has done much to maintain the religious life of the college and to promote interest in missionary work. Besides weekly meetings this year, there has been one vesper service, and about a half a dozen deputation trips. A number of the members attended the state conference at Grand Rapids. Three members of the local group held state offices during the past year: Helen Chapman, secretary; Winifred Johnson, council woman; and Fred Des Autels, chairman of posters and deputation work.

La Conferencia Espanola

Although La Conferencia Espanola is one of the youngest organizations on the campus, it is showing much pep and enthusiasm. Its aim is to create an interest in Spanish, and, to cultivate in its members the ability to think and speak in the language.

A picture of La Catedral de Burgos was presented to Professor Bailey by the club. This picture has been hung in his room in the Annex. In time it is hoped that this room will have more of a Spanish atmosphere through the addition of more Spanish pictures and decorations.

The International Relations Club

This organization has grown to be one of the most prominent of the several campus groups which prove the student body of Kalamazoo College to be deeply interested in various phases of modern life. It was founded in 1921 and is a member of a national association of International Relations Clubs created under the auspices of the Institute of International Education in New York City, which has representative clubs in most of the colleges and universities of the United States. The purpose of the clubs is to study and discuss informally the problems which face the world today, especially in the field of international politics, with a view to a better understanding of them.

In accordance with its custom, the Kalamazoo club held a "get-together" meeting early in the present college year, at which the new members, chosen by a faculty committee on the basis of scholarship, leadership and interest in current events, were introduced to the older members and an organization perfected, while plans for the club's work of the year were outlined. The new members chosen for this year were Harold Beadle, Lillian Weller, Mabel Miller, Dorothy C. Scott, Robert Black, Mary Lindenthal, Ledlie De Bow, Theodore Fandrich, Shirley Payne, Helen Going, Ben Goldman, Frederick Pope, Roger Thompson, Robert Pfeil, Edna Biss, Marguerite Hall, William Scott, Merrill Peterson, and Harold Wise.

Successive meetings of the club have been devoted to programs on such topics as "The League Meeting of 1924", "The League Protocol for International Peace", "The Dawes Reparations Plan", "The English and German Elections" and "The Interallied Debts". At each meeting a summary of current events was given and discussed in open forum.

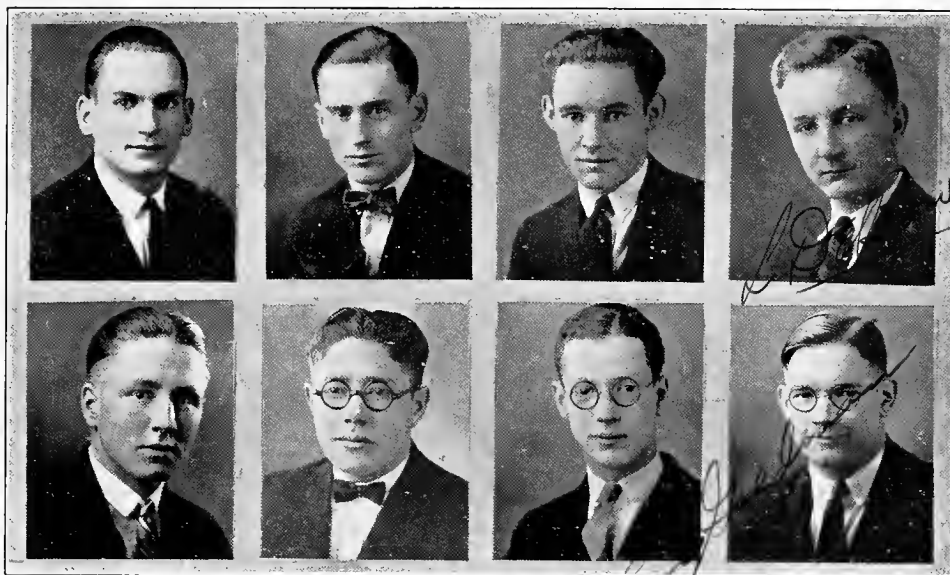

Co-Operative Store

One of the most important of all student activities had been the Co-Op store. This store is owned by the Student Body of the college. The manager of the store is elected at the regular student elections and is a member of the Senate. The store enables students to buy books and other supplies at a very nominal price and it is not run for a profit. While the actual management of the store is in the hands of the Manager, supervision is held by a Board consisting of the Manager, Dr. Bachelor, the college Business Manager, and one other member appointed by the Senate.

Blackstonian Fraternity

National Beta Chapter

Michigan Alpha Chapter

The Blackstonian fraternity is a national honorary fraternity. The membership is made up of those students who show an active interest in the study of law and who have obtained a marked scholastic record.

Beta Chapter, being the national chapter this year, had the duty of stimulating an interest in, preserving and extending the organization, and expanding the influence of the Blackstonian Fraternity.

Due to the absence of the head of the Political Science Department, Prof. Cornell, and the mass of national correspondence to be taken care of, the chapter was not as active in local work this year as in the past. It did, however, find time to give the annual banquet to the Kalamazoo County Bar Association. The guest of honor, and principal speaker, was Professor Sunderland of the University of Michigan, who, upon his recent return from an extensive study of the English jury system, had been selected by the American Bar Association as the Michigan speaker at its annual meeting.

Chemistry Club

The Chemistry Club of Kalamazoo College is now filling the place on the campus which a science club fills in other colleges. The membership is made up of those students who show active interest in Chemistry and maintain a high scholastic standing. Nine new members were admitted this year.

The purpose of the club is to stimulate interest in research and commercial work, and to give students of chemistry in Kalamazoo College some contact with other phases of chemistry than those studied in the class-room.

Regular meetings are held twice a month. At these meetings special papers, prepared by members, are read and discussed. The club this year has, indeed, been fortunate in having lectures by local chemists and others. Among these were Mr. Leroy Buttolph of the Cooper Hewitt Electric Company, Hoboken, New Jersey; Drs. Heyl and Hart of the Upjohn Laboratories of Kalamazoo; and Dr. Des Autels, Director of Research of the American Container Association.

The outstanding social event in the year is the annual picnic.

Debating

Two State Championships, and a season without the loss of a single vote by any of the men's debate teams, mark the most successful year in forensics, that Kalamazoo College has ever had and, leave Kalamazoo the undisputed leader of debating in Michigan for another year.

More interest was shown in debating this year than has ever been shown in the memory of any student now in college, as has been demonstrated by the number of participants and the remarkable support given by the student body. Twenty-six men and women participated in twelve debates for Kalamazoo this year. All but six of those entering the debate try-outs took part in at least one debate.

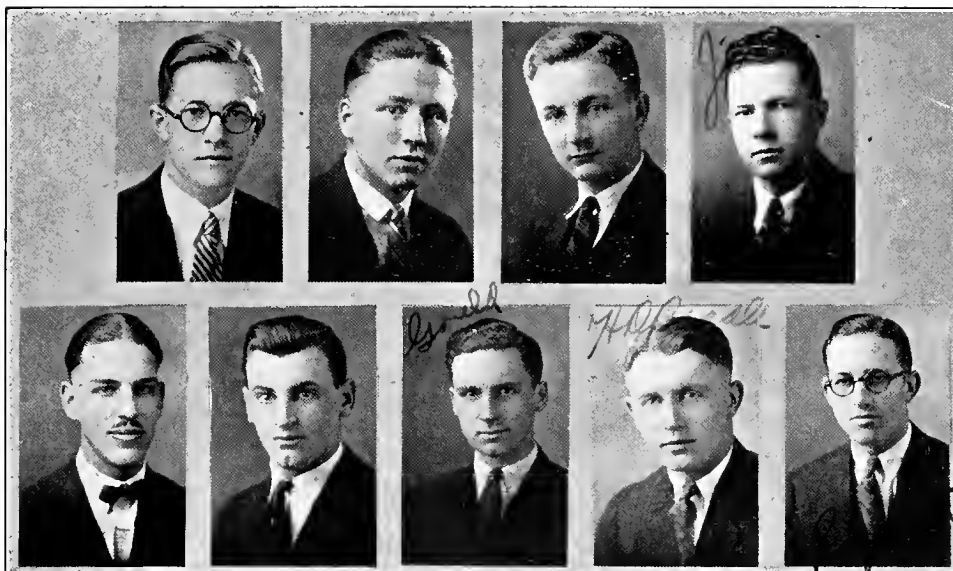

The All-Frosh teams opened the 1925 debating season on January 16th with two unanimous decisions. This gave Kalamazoo the All-Frosh quadrangle championship. A negative team composed of Robert Krill, Donald Dayton and George Allen decisively defeated the Hillsdale Freshmen at Hillsdale on the question: Resolved, that there should be no discrimination against the Japanese in our immigration laws. At the same time, the Kazoo affirmative team, composed of Marvin Volpel, Donald Tourtelotte and John Carroll were handing the Olivet Freshmen a 3-0 defeat on the home platform.

With this record, in addition to their own past ones, to uphold, the Varsity League teams started the season with a rush and not once were they headed in the League race.

Friday, the 13th, is unlucky for Kazoo's opponents. On February 13th the Varsity negative team, Edwin Gemrich, Leroy Stinebower and Ledlie DeBow, won a 3-0 victory on Ypsilanti's platform and the next night one of Kalamazoo's affirmative teams, James McLaughlin, Gilbert Otto and Gould Fox, debating at home, won by the same score over Albion.

The State Championship was practically determined February 26th when the same Kazoo negative team met the Olivet affirmative. Olivet, due to this defeat was forced to accept second place when the judges decided for Kazoo, 3-0. The following night another affirmative team made up of Harold Beadle, Robert Stein, and Raymond Ford traveled to Hope where they had no trouble in gaining a 2-0 victory over the Dutch. One judge didn't show up.

These four unanimous decisions not only gave Kalamazoo the Michigan Debate League Championship but also established a record for the League—an entire season without the loss of a single vote.

MEN'S VARSITY DEBATE

In addition to the regular League debates, the men's teams participated in two non-decisions debates. On the afternoon of March 25th the affirmative team composed of Otto, McLaughlin and Fox, met a team from M. A. C. and on April 17th the negative team went to Detroit where they met the Detroit College of Law. In both of these debates it was the general accord of the audiences that the Kalamazoo teams had done the better debating.

In all the debates the Varsity teams debated the question: Resolved, that Congress should be empowered to override by a two-thirds vote decisions of the Supreme Court declaring acts of Congress unconstitutional.

The women's teams, using the same question as the Freshmen had used, opened the season March 12th when an affirmative team consisting of Mina Stowe, Edith Levin and Bernice Cook debated a team from Wheaton College on the home platform. The single judge system was used in this debate and the one vote went to Wheaton. The following morning a two-man team made up of Clifton Odell and Winfield Hollander clashed with two of Wheaton young ladies in a no-decision debate.

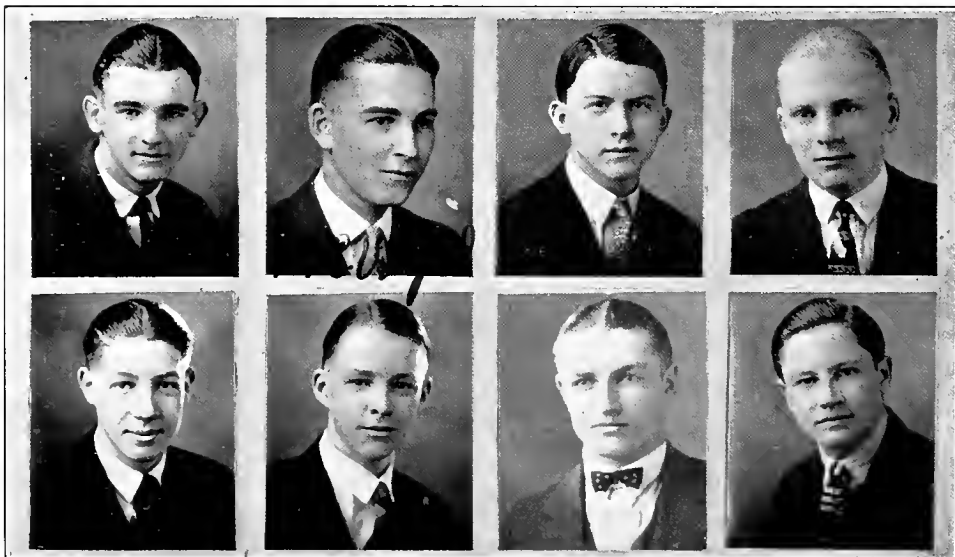

The season closed April 18th with a triangular women's debate with Franklin College and Dennison University. The affirmative team, Alma Smith, Margaret Vande Bunt and Lucile Bullock, met the Franklin team here while the Kazoo negative team, composed of Ruth Minar, Alice Starkweather and Dorothy Aldrich journeyed to Grandville, Ohio. In both debates the vote was 2-1 for the negative.

No account of the season would be complete without recognition of the work of Dr. Griffith, Coach of Debate. Mainly through his untiring work with the squads, were they able to achieve their enviable record. No one, who has not participated in debating, can realize how much time and energy Dr. Griffith has given to his work. To him, more than to any one else, belongs the credit for Kalamazoo's outstanding leadership in Michigan debating leagues.

FRESHMEN DEBATE

Oratory

Oratory had a very prominent place in Kalamazoo this year. Kalamazoo entertained the contests of the Michigan Oratorical League, which were held at the First Baptist Church on March 6th.

Edmund Babbitt represented Kalamazoo in the men's contest and third place with his oration, "The Romance of Achievement." Babbitt is only a Sophomore and should place higher next year.

Winifred Johnson was the representative in the women's contest. She won a tie for 4th place with the oration "As the Twig is Bent".

The coaching work was divided between Professor Milton Simpson and Miss Mildred Tanis. Professor Simpson laid emphasis upon the content while Miss Tanis stressed the delivery.

Drama Club

The drama club for the past year continued to hold a prominent place among the campus activities. The study of plays, biographies of actors and playwrights, occupied most of the time at the regular fortnightly meetings held during the first semester. Under the personal direction of Miss Tanis the club presented Owen Davis's Pulitzer prize play, "Icebound" at the city auditorium on Dec. 6. The play being of a more serious type than any of those previously produced, met with high approval from a large clientele of theater-goers. During the second semester an intensive study of the one act play was made. The club members were divided into six groups, two of which presented walking rehearsals of one act plays on each program.

“Ice Bound”

It is the desire of the Drama Club each year to produce at least one major play which will be presented in one of the city theaters. Previously to 1924 all of the Drama Club productions consisted of lively comedies recently released by New York publishing houses. Icebound, however, in 1924 marked a turn to the more serious type of drama and gave an opportunity for real character portraying.

After the play had been studied intensively under the able directions of Miss Mildred Tanis for a period of five weeks it was presented to the public and hailed as the greatest success in the history of the Drama Club.

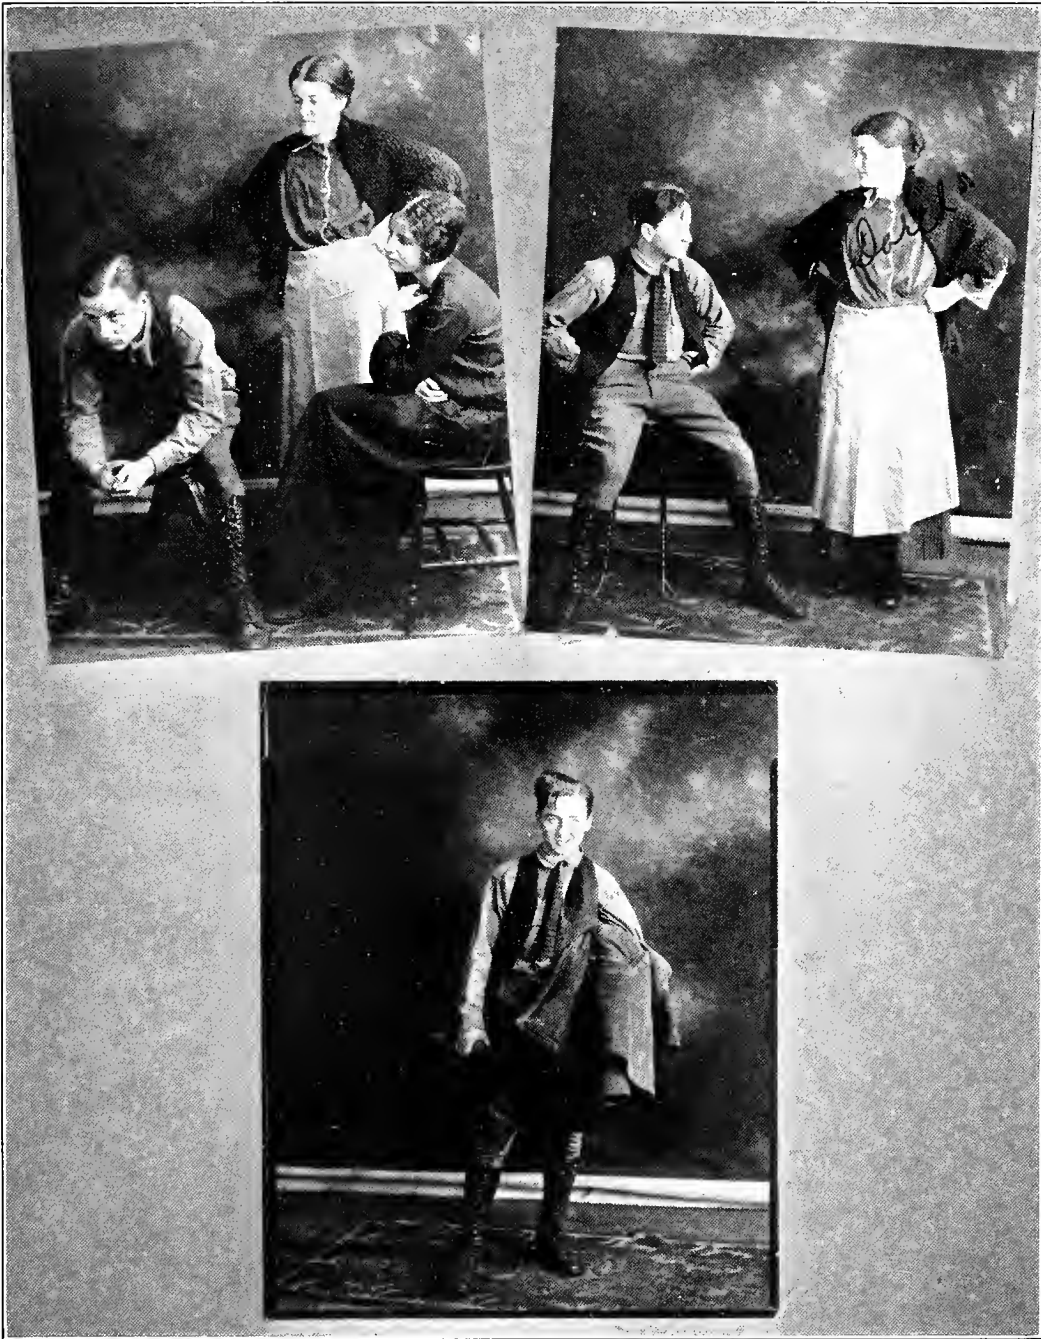

Icebound is a powerful play. Owen Davis, the author, portraying a vivid picture of a New England rural family, masters every situation and intermingles an element of subtle humor with a strong and interesting plot. Icebound is a story of selfish, self-centered, and frozen-hearted people—but with the coming of spring these hearts begin to thaw and a great reformation takes place within Ben Jordan, the outcast son and a victim of environment. There is an happy ending—a true friendship growing into an enduring love.

COACH J. MAYNARD STREET

Two years ago Kalamazoo College suffered a seemingly irreparable blow. After a decade of athletic supremacy among the small colleges, the oldest college in the state was forced to accept overwhelming and humiliating defeats. The loss, by graduation, of the great majority of letter men in the school; the lack of an influx of new material and the change in management and system of coaching proved to be a succession of blows too great to be withstood. Instead of a series of victories, followers of College athletics witnessed the most disasterous football season ever held; the loss of the first M. I. A. A. basketball championship in eleven years; the loss of the first dual and state track meets in a decade; and, an exceedingly poor baseball season.

Wiseacres, outside the College, saw destruction impending and, throwing up their hands in horror, they mournfully proclaimed the death of Kalamazoo College. But in their haste to judge an institution on the basis of athletic prowess alone, they left several factors out of consideration. They forgot that Kalamazoo College harbored ninety-two years of proud traditions and, they neglected to take into consideration the indomitable spirit prevailing the Old College on the Hills.

For a time the suddenness and the shock of overwhelming defeats so staggered the College that it appeared that the bold, clean aggressiveness of past years had given way to complacent acceptance of defeat as inevitable. Then came the Spirit of Kalamazoo College! Refusing to live on past glories, giving no alibi, accepting defeat only after the bitterest struggle, playing hard, determined and clean athletics, Kalamazoo College is once more on the upward road.

With the incoming class have come men who, combining scholarship with athletic ability, are worthily upholding our traditions and ideals. Nine men receiving football letters were new men at Kalamazoo and all but two members of the basketball squad were new comers to our campus. With a school spirit that cannot be broken by the most terrific setbacks and, with a new current of athletic life in our midst it is evident that Michigan's Oldest College cannot be denied her former place in the athletic world.

That Kalamazoo College is on the road to leadership in athletics is evident by its grid showing last fall, and by the fact that, with the exception of three veterans, the Orange and Black squad was composed entirely of Freshmen and Sophomores. Although only two games are on the 1924 victory list, every contest has been a hard fought battle and the results show that the Streetmen have improved considerably since 1923.

In 1923, a green, light, and inexperienced squad of Freshmen with a very few veterans to form a nucleus, was rounded into an eleven that fought gamely through a season of disastrous defeats. The team was defeated by an overwhelming score in almost every fray. The showing last fall told a different story. No team on the Baptist schedule of 1924 succeeded in defeating the Orange and Black squad by over a 21 point majority. Hillsdale College, M. I. A. A. champ, was forced to display its best brand of football to win by a 21 to 7 score.

As history repeats itself and progresses in cycles, so does athletics. Every college for various reasons has its poor year in athletics; such was the case in 1923 when Kalamazoo reached the ground point. The football record of last fall is not an enviable one but it does indicate that the Baptist school is on the upward trend and, in two more years, when the majority of our present football players will still be on the gridiron, the Orange and Black should reach the zenith of its athletic prowess in football.

The Kalamazoo line last fall was one of the strongest forward walls in the association. Ypsilanti, Hillsdale and Albion, the three strongest teams in the M. I. A. A. were able to make very little headway in their attempts to buck Kazoo's line, but were victorious over the locals merely because they excelled in one department of the game; that is the staging of effective aerial attacks which at times baffled the Orange and Black players. The inability of the secondary offense to break up such passing combinations as Dorsh to Gettings of Hillsdale, Williams to Weaver of Ypsilanti, and Catherman to Bowman of Alma was responsible for the defeats.

Top—Trainer Osborn, Davis, Meulenberg, Hackney, Glezen, Wicks, Reedy, Trainer Ludwig.
Center—Equipment Clerk Hinga, Spencer, Bridgman, Eldred, Brenner, Berry, A. Ludwig, Schrier.

At present it looks as though the 1925 squad, with a 100 per cent squad of veterans to form a nucleus, will not be forced to accept the undisputed cellar position of the M. I. A. A. Every player has intimated his intention to return to college next fall.

Several men are deserving of special recommendation due to their stellar playing.

Captain Bob Black, because of his triple threat ability as a kicker, thrower, and line plunger, was one of the most valuable players on the team. Black was the most versatile player on the squad being capable of playing three positions; halfback, fullback, or end; and filling one just as well as the other.

Pop Skeen was an all-M. I. A. A. mention whose stellar playing contributed to the spectacular element of every game in which he participated. No team in the association succeeded in preventing Skeen from making headway on line plunges. Pop also displayed great defensive ability.

Bus Glezen was another big man on the squad. He started out as a substitute but earned a permanent position after the Beloit game when he drew praise from the coach of that school, who said Glezen was the best center seen on the Beloit gridiron in years. His work was of an All-M. I. A. A. calibre.

ROBERT BLACK
Captain

Gerhard Harsch was one of the main-stays of the line. Although not a spectacular player his work was consistant and heady. Out of consideration for his excellent playing his team mates elected him 1925 football captain to succeed Bob Black.

Maynard Sproul, varsity quarterback, earned the reputation of being the most deadly tackle on the team. Ronald Garrett, halfback, was the fleetest of foot and performed brilliantly until he was injured rather early in the season. Stone was a valuable man at center. LaCrone and Winne, playing their second year for Kalamazoo, helped a great deal in making the forward wall one of the best in the association.

Among the new men who earned regular positions were Opie Davis and Tim Meulenberg, ends; Jack Berry, Al Bridgman and Mike Reedy, backs, and Richard Watson and Knox Wicks, linemen. Substitutes who developed rapidly during the season were: Tom Eldred, Arnold Ludwig, Marshall Brenner, MacDonald, Prior and Schrier. Nineteen letters were awarded.

BASKETBALL

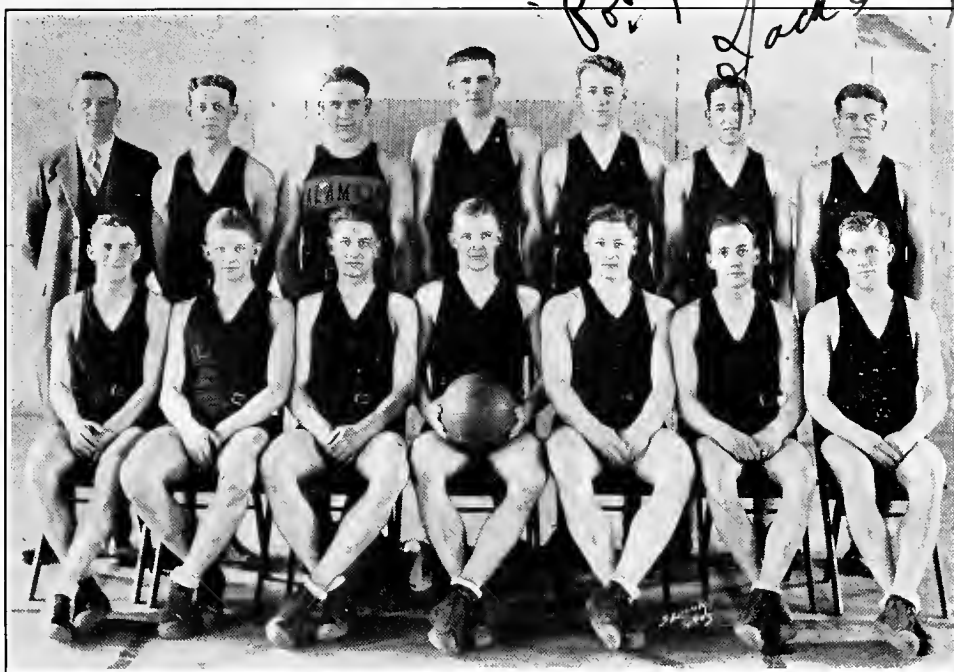

1924-25

Kalamazoo College upset all dope in the 1924-5 basketball season. Conceded one of the cellar positions at the start of the season because of the failure of Captain Harry Voorhees to return to school and because of the loss of all except Bob Ludwig and Bob Black from last year's team, Kalamazoo fought its way to the runner-up position in the M. I. A. A. race. The team secured eight victories out of fourteen games played. As was expected, Alma had little trouble in walking away with the state title and the great interest of the association centered around the fight for second place. Thus, the gaining of second place in the M. I. A. A. race was virtually a championship in itself.

One of the bright spots in the basketball outlook is the abundance of freshmen found on the squad. With the exception of Captain Ludwig and Bob Black, who were juniors, and Bridgman, who was a sophomore, the entire squad was composed of freshmen. An all-freshmen team composed of Davis and MacDonald, forwards; Hackney, center; and Berry and Meulenberg, guards, defeated Albion 39 to 31 on the Methodist's floor. This indicates that Kalamazoo will have a most formidable aggregation next season and will soon be back at the head of the M. I. A. A.

The season opened rather dismally. After being defeated twice the team seemed to strike its natural stride in the Grand Rapids Junior College game which Kazoo annexed, 37 to 22. Then the team did the unexpected and won from the powerful Beloit team by the close score of 26 to 25. This game was one of the high spots of the year and served to show that the Streetmen were very much in the running in the state association.

Kalamazoo won its first M. I. A. A. tilt from Olivet, 24 to 23, but then lost to the fast Hope crew, 24 to 16. Hope also defeated Kazoo later in the season. The Hillsdale encounter found Kalamazoo still in a tie with Alma for first place.

Top—Coach Street, Brenner, Karsten, Schrier, Watson, Berry, Hawkins.

Bottom—Davis, MacDonald, Hackney, Captain Ludwig, Black, Meulenberg, Bridgman.

Albion, however, took a heart-breaker by the tight score of 27 to 26. Later in the season Kalamazoo trimmed Albion using the all-freshmen team. The team then won another game from Hillsdale and split even on two games with Michigan State Normal, but was decisively beaten by Alma in both contests.

Tim Meulenberg was placed on the All-M. I. A. A. team at guard. Tim, while playing at guard, was the high point man of the year. Coming to the squad as a freshman, he took the running guard position left vacant by the absence of Harry Voorhees, and displayed such speed, dribbling and accurate shooting that he won special notice in almost every game.

Captain Ludwig proved to be the best defensive man on the team. Bob had a way of picking the ball off the backboard and starting and directing floor plays that inspired confidence in all the members of his team and won the praise of the keenest critics.

Black, at forward, played a brilliant game. He was one of the high scorers of the year. He could pass, dribble and shoot with great accuracy. Hackney, freshman, bore the brunt of the work at the center position. He played in every game and improved rapidly as the season progressed. Undoubtedly he will be one of the mainstays of the team next year. Davis and MacDonald were two freshman who won regular positions as forwards. Davis was small but made up for his lack of weight through an extra portion of speed. MacDonald also alternated at center.

ROBERT LUDWIG
Captain

Substitutes who displayed ability throughout the season were: Hawkins, Brenner and Bridgman, forwards; Neal Schrier, center; and Karsten, Watson and Berry, guards.

The Orange and Black 1924 track team did not make an enviable record but it made one of which Kalamazoo College can be proud. The local thinclads participated in two dual and two state meets, splitting even in the former and winning fourth and third places in the latter meets. A shortage of men in the weight throwing events and the dashes accounts for the apparent mediocre showing.

In the first dual meet with Albion the Methodist squad piled up a 40 point lead at the half way mark but were surprised to see the Streetmen upset the dope by showing superiority in the distant run and field events. Albion maintained a nine point lead at the end but was forced to forfeit the meet to Kalamazoo because of the ineligibility of Smith who participated in the meet and scored five points. With these five points deducted from the grand total Kazoo became the winner by a single point majority.

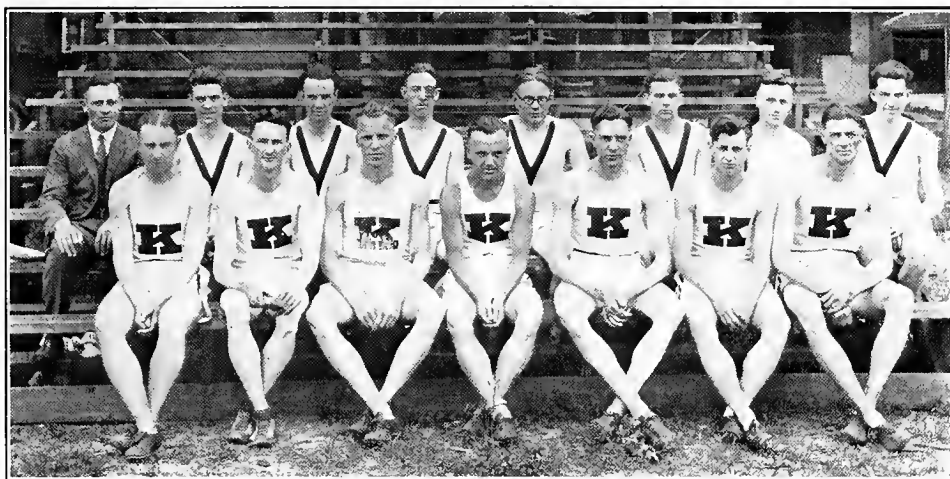

In the second dual meet of the year Kalamazoo lost to Hillsdale College $75\frac{1}{2}$ to $54\frac{1}{2}$. Peter Norg won high honors on the Orange and Black squad by garnering 14 points. He took firsts in the high and low hurdles and a second in the discus. Kalamazoo's great handicap in this meet was a lack of weight men.

In the state meet at M. A. C. Garrett and Peter Norg were the only Baptist athletes who scored. Norg won 2 points for his team by winning fourth place in both the low and high hurdles. Garrett tied for fourth place in the pole vaults. Kalamazoo captured fourth place.

Running true to form the local track stars succeeded in finishing third behind Ypsilanti and Albion in the thirty-fifth annual field day meet of the M. I. A. A. Ypsilanti scored $89\frac{1}{2}$ points; Albion, $25\frac{1}{2}$; Kalamazoo, $22\frac{1}{2}$; Hillsdale, 21; Alma, $5\frac{1}{2}$; and Olivet, 0. The javelin record of 153.05 feet established by Fred VanZant of Kalamazoo College in 1923 was shattered by Harmon of Hillsdale who hurled the javelin 158 feet and 11 inches. Norg placed third in the high hurdles, Davis and Otto third and fourth in the 440, Flemming second in the discuss, and Skellinger fourth in the board jump. The relay team composed of Brown, McCarthy, Otto and Davis won third place.

The point summary of the ten men who received "K's" follows: Peter Norg, $33\frac{1}{2}$; Davis, $26\frac{1}{2}$; Garrett, 20; Otto, 16; Fleming, $17\frac{1}{2}$; Peterson, 12; Hinckley, 11; Osborne, 10; Brown, 8; and Skellinger, 4. The "R" men are: Olmstead, 4; McCarthy, 3; Schuur, 1; and Calvin, 1.

Merrill Peterson was elected captain of the 1925 team to succeed Captain Zeke Osborne and, due to his record of the past three years, is capable of filling the position.

BASEBALL

1924

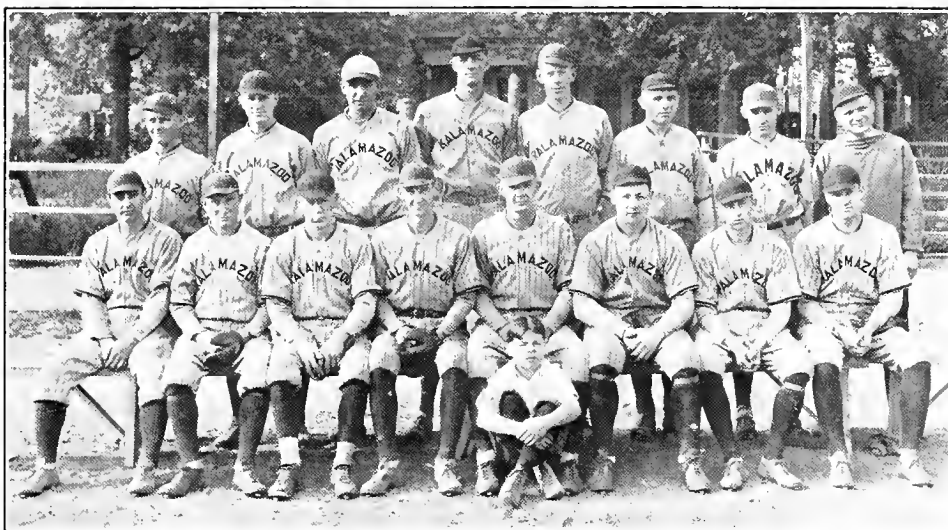

The Kalamazoo baseball team had a rather disastrous 1924 season due to the lack of an effective pitching staff and to a scarcity of veteran material. Coach Paul Staake with a handful of inexperienced men to work with developed a team that worked well in both hitting and fielding but he was hopelessly handicapped in his effort to build up a pitching staff.

Three veterans composed the nucleus around which Coach Staake shaped his nine. They were Bob Ludwig, all-M. I. A. A. catcher; Harry Voorhees, second baseman and Bob Black, shortstop. When the first call for new candidates was sounded late in the month of March twenty-five candidates responded. Four players, Red Hiestand, Doc Whitney, Phillip Vercoe and Don Larson, constituted the hurling staff. With the exception of Hiestand who was ineligible for all M. I. A. A. contests because of late registration, all of the moundsmen were inexperienced and, despite the fact that they possessed natural pitching ability, could not hope to perform as brilliantly as the veterans of other association teams.

Out of the ten M. I. A. A. contests played the Baptists annexed two victories, Olivet and Hillsdale being the victims. Two games were staged with Hope College, the local team winning the home game 7-4, and losing the other 4-1. Seventeen men were given a chance to get in games, fourteen of whom receive their "K's". They are Captain Ludwig, Rock Flemming, H. A. Voorhees, Ronald Garrett, Townsend, Simmons, Vercoe, Skellenger, Sayles, Hiestand, H. O. Voorhees, Whitney and Larson. Three players who received "R's" are Hessmer, Buys and Doyle.

ROBERT LUDWIG
Captain

Top—Coates, Skellenger, Simmons, Fleming, Larson, Pardee, Brininger, Coach Staake.
Bottom—Doyle, Hiestand, Whitney, Harold Voorhees, Captain Ludwig, Black, Harry Voorhees, Vercoe.

Captain Ludwig and Bob Black were perhaps the two most valuable players on the team. The former was one of the best catchers in the association because of his consistent hard playing in either defeat or victory, while the latter established an enviable record for himself as a slugger, shortstop, and relief pitcher. Rock Fleming, although at bat only 18 times, topped the batting average list. Ronald Garrett was second with 13 hits out of 35 times at bat, and H. A. Voorhees finished third with 16 hits out of 52 chances.

The 1924 team was one of the strongest slugging outfits that Kalamazoo College has had in years. With the exception of the Voorhees brothers, Flemming, Simmons, and Skellenger, all of the men have returned to college and will form a large nucleus for the 1925 squad.

After winning the M. I. A. A. cross-country championship for two consecutive years, Kalamazoo was obliged to accept defeat in the 1924 season. The loss of such stars as Osborne, Brown and Davis greatly weakened the squad. The Orange and Black thinclads participated in two state meets and finished fourth in each.

Julius Wendzel, freshman, was the only man to win his letter this year. Wendzel took twelfth place in the M. I. A. A. contest and thirteenth place in the state meet held at Michigan Agricultural College.

Captain Merrill Peterson was forced to drop out of the M. A. C. run and was unable to compete in the M. I. A. A. meet. Peterson always finished among the first to cross the tape and his loss was keenly felt by the squad.

Dennison, letter man from the previous year failed to show his usual good form in either meet. Promising new men developed were Clark, Rueben Wendzel, and Compton.

Westerville, Mabel Pinel, Voorhees, Evelyn Pinel, Hinga

Tennis 1924

Although unable to annex any championships the 1924 team composed mostly of inexperienced players made a commendable showing in State meets and gave promise of a strong 1925 outfit. The loss of such stars as Dorothy Putt and Peck Hall made sledding hard for the local team and left but two veterans around which to build a team.

The season opened with the state invitational meet at M. A. C. Mabel and Evelyn Pinel registered Kazoo's only point when they won their way to the finals, being defeated in the last round 2-6 and 4-6 by Connable and Dunlap of Western State Normal. Lundy and Westerville represented the local Men's team in both the singles and doubles but were eliminated in their initial games.

In the preliminary meet held at Albion on May 26, Kalamazoo won three out of the four matches played and thus placed herself as a contestant in the final M. I. A. A. field tournament. Casey Voorhees won his singles 7-5, 6-2. The men's doubles were won 7-5, 6-3 by Westerville and Hinga. The Pinel sisters took the women's double's 6-4, 6-2. Mabel Pinel was defeated in the finals, 1-6, 6-2, 1-6.

The final meet of the season proved quite disastrous. Voorhees lost to Dillon of Ypsilanti in the finals while Westerville and Hinga accepted defeat from Kern and Dillon of Ypsilanti in the finals.

Director of Women's Athletics.

Women's Athletics

The Women's Athletic Association has had a very worthwhile year. It has adopted a new constitution this year, which has put it on a sound, efficient basis. The constitution meets the rigid requirements of the Athletic Board of Control of the College. The membership of the association consists of all the young women of the student body. Honors may be won according to the point system. For winning 450 points, the girl receives Society letters; for 600 points, a small gold K; and for 800 points a small gold K and sweater, the color of which is according to the Society of which the girl is a member.

Much interest and competition was displayed during the basketball season when the inter-society basketball tournament took place. The tournament came to a close with an All-Girls Banquet when trophies were awarded and an all star team announced, the members of which were:

The Hot Tureen

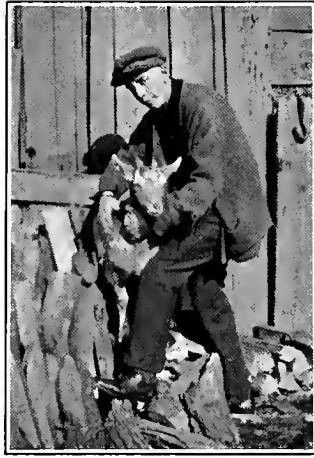

Being Volume I of the Year Book of the Kalamazoo College Chapter of the Ancient Order of Assorted Nuts.

Dedication

To Freddie, Dean of the Pecan School of Nuttology, Student of Parts, and Broadus Medalist of The Squirrels, we affectionately dedicated this, the first volume of the "Hot Tureen". This choice was not made in any careless or haphazard manner, but, was made after a most thorough compilation of the results of the world's best judges of non-mentality. In the various tests applied Fred passed every test for hints or even small traces of gray matter with flying colors. His total score indicated a mark of 100% A. I. (Absent Intelligence). Therefore we have rated him as "abnormal" and awarded him the "Brains Out" degree. (Magna Cum Laude.)

Our Campus

Oh treeses that blow in the breezes,
Where we sat and ate crackers and cheeses,
And under your shade, full many a maid,
Has sat and had all kinds of squeezes.

Behold our Campus! Are we proud of our Campus? Yes, we are proud of our Campus. Do we love our Campus? Yes, we love our Campus. Is our Campus beautiful? Yes, our Campus is beautiful. Do we know what happens to little boys that tell lies? No, we don't know what happens to little boys that tell lies. Ah! That accounts for the answers.

In the background we show some of the architectural fungi that abounds upon our Campus. This building is known as Bones Hall. To say that it is a good building is not enough. Captain John Smith said that much when he built it. This building is a product of prehistoric days. In appearance it resembles Jonah's whale except for a little less of a smile around the mouth. It is a product of spontaneous evolution and malice aforethought. It is located in the heart of the squirrel district and as a consequence has lost its popularity with the student body. It's too dangerous. For protection the quadruped seen in the foreground is kept tied to the door post. School did not start until November last year because Oswald (the he-sheep) had dragged dear old Bones Hall over on the Normal football field while looking for better grazing. The one without the horns is Keeny, the Curator of Buildings and Grounds, who daily risks his life by going among the squirrels to bring Oswald his doughnuts and coffee. Bones Hall was once full of rats but the Administration hung up a group picture of the faculty and there haven't been any rats since. Of course this one picture can't begin to exhaust the beauties of our Campus. We have many more unusual structures which words can not adequately disguise.

Athletics

There are a lot of people who think that because all of our four varsity teams were defeated that the past year hasn't been a real success in athletics. In drawing this conclusion they have left one thing out of consideration. There is one branch of athletic endeavor in which Kalamazoo unquestionably excels. We refer, of course, to our Fat Men's Relay Team. The picture below is an excellent likeness of the World's Best Fat Men's Relay Team and we sure are proud that it belongs to Kalamazoo.

Benjamin Goldman is Captain of this team and he certainly is worthy of the honor of being the anchor man on the World's Best Fat Men's Relay Team. Ben is somewhat faster than the other men but he easily over comes this handicap by his stupidity and entire lack of judgement in his running. The youth reclining upon the ground is none other than the dedicatee of the HOT TUREEN, himself. Fred is a very valuable man and can be depended on to lose a lap in any race with no difficulty at all. Rynne (the one just below the other monkey) is easily the star of the team. Rynne holds the half-mile record having clocked off the distance in 8 hours and 56 minutes. The most remarkable thing about it is that he ran the last three laps backward.

All of the letter men will be back next year except Calvin and this insures a much better team for the next season. Much credit is due to Coach Osborn who, disguised in women's clothing, successfully scouted on all the other teams in the association.

"THE TRUTH ABOUT BLAYDS"

The "Truth About Blayds" is a thrilling melodrama revealing the inside dope in the safety razor industry. To say that the action of this play is thrilling is to put it much too mildly. Much too much. The play fairly abounds in thrilling scenes such as the one pictured above. The audience was held spellbound during the entire production. He remarked afterward that he had never seen anything acted 'just like it either before or behind.

The story opens with our hero, Fred Des Autels, weeping silently into his glass of homebrew. The old cow dies and he goes to seek his fortune in the big city. Here amid the trials and temptations of the big city he meets the heroine, played by Miss Radkey. She is immediately impressed by his honest looks and pleads with her father until he sells the dog and lets Fred sleep in the kennel. Then in the silent watches of the dark night comes a slinking robber, a deep dyed villain, played by Everett Claspy. Fred, from his apartment next to the garage hears him, and grows suspicious. Claspy makes a noise like a beef steak and this is his undoing. Torn by the ravages of hunger Des Autels leaves his kennel in three bounds and fastens his molars in Claspy's leg. Claspy dies from hydrophobia and Fred marries his heart's desire, and they have three little children who often go down to the park to see the fountain squirt.

Oratory and Debating

As usual Kalamazoo had a great debate team. Perhaps it might be better to put the expression in the plural rather than in the singular. Early in the season the news was broadcasted that Maynard Sproul would not be able to participate because of a seriously sprained tonsil. Heartened by this bit of information the bookmakers immediately reduced the odds on Kalamazoo from 1000 to 1 to even up. Spurred on by the thought of a Forensic Banquet the debaters worked hard and by the end of the season had their speeches almost written.

In the preliminary contest Bob Ludwig carried off top honors with a splendid presentation of the reasons why quiet should be kept in Williams Hall. The finals narrowed down to Pinkey Ludwig and Knox Wicks. Ludwig made a masterful presentation of the merits of St. Joe. He talked for 6 hours and 11 minutes but Wicks beat him by running up a total of 13 hours and 46 minutes. In this effort Mr. Wicks established a world's record for talking the longest while saying the least. The medal, however, was awarded to Pinkey because he displayed a far greater ignorance of his subject than Wicks. Mr. Casler challenged Ludwig to meet him on the question, of whether she was shoved or whether she was pushed but Ludwig was forced to decline because of a sprained tendon in his left adenoid. Other men who showed up well during the season were Bill Praeger and Bill Denison. Denison did one fine bit of work when he expostulated for 4 hours and 23 minutes without letting anyone know what he was talking about. Mr. Praeger entered the Hope debate. There is still some question in our minds as to just what side of the question he was talking on.

Daily Ripples

September Fifteenth

We all come back and broadly grin
To see the mob of Frosh come in.

September Seventeenth

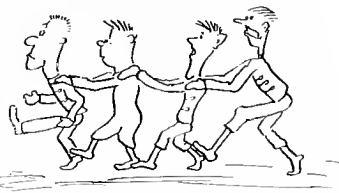

The old order changeth and giveth way to new,
The new lights in the chapel show just who is who.

September Nineteenth

At the Gym we all shake hands in line.
The Profs all sing "Sweet Ad-ol-ine."

September Twenty-third

The Frosh wear out many clotheses
Pushing peanuts with their noses.

September Twenty-fourth

Ten days are gone and the blue one's dirty
So Clapp wires home for his other shirt.

September Twenty-fifth

The Sophs turn out in grand old revel
But, Frosh, quite hot, give Sophs the devil.

September Twenty-sixth

At the New Men's Feed we wine and dine,
To kid the boys that Kazoo is fine.

September Twenty-seventh

From early morn to day's last gleam
The coaches work the football team.

September Thirtieth

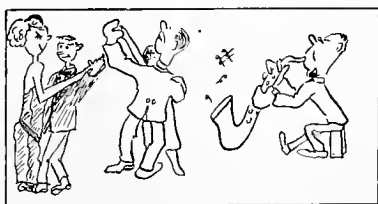

The Frosh and Soph with aspect grim,
Meander to the dear old Gym.

October Third

Bob says his gang is looking fine;
We bump J. C., twenty-five to nine.

October Fourth

Hosler swipes his room-mate's pants
And hies himself to the Senior dance.

October Eleventh

Olivet arrives and filled with glee
They grab the game, naught to three.
Desenberg bares his gaunt physique
And helps to do the Dance Classique.

October Fifteenth

The Kappas hold their open meeting
And pass the time in rabid eating.

October Eighteenth

A B C D E F G,
Kazoo, thirteen—Beloit, twenty-three.

October Twenty-first

Hortense Neilson comes by bus
To read Drinkwater's play for us.

October Twenty-second

The Frosh and Senior game is fought;
The final score is naughty-naught.

October Twenty-fourth

Fellow studes, we are in heaven;
Prexy grants us dances seven.

October Twenty-fifth

We soak the Dutchmen on the bean,
Kazoo, thirty-eight—Hope, thirteen.

October Twenty-ninth

The Frosh secure, with artful tricks,
Pointers seven to Juniors nix.

November First

We rare to Ypsi to do our stuff
But find the Normal too darn tuff.

November Seventh

The Boiling Pot makes advance sale
And Stinie gathers in the kale.

November Eighth

With game and song and feelings gay
We celebrate Homecoming Day.
Hillsdale wins and takes its leave.
The Sherwoods have a dance at eve.

November Fourteenth

"Herm", "Juss" and Mark in chapel sing
And make the well-known welkin ring.

November Fifteenth

Alma runs up twenty-one
While we content ourselves with none.

November Nineteenth

The Freshmen form their government
And chose Bob Krill for president.

November Twenty-second

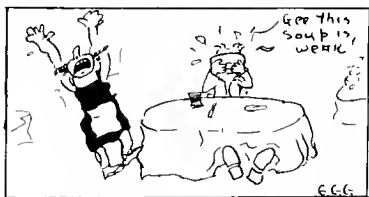

Albion gives our last defeat.
There's no more games so we can't be beat.

November Twenty-fifth

The turkey is a noble bird;
He wears a pretty feather.
The one we had, it seemed to us,
Had drumsticks made of leather.

November Twenty-eighth

At Muskegon, Ledlie, at his best,
Drains his finger-bowl with zest.

November Twenty-ninth

Bob Cornell sneaks from his spouse
And makes a speech to crowded house.

November Thirtieth

At basketball we get some knowledge
From little G. R. Junior College.

December Third

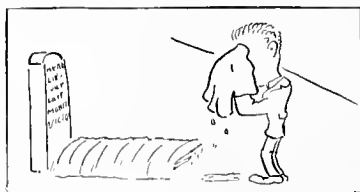

The Sherwoods send a Neophyte
Who makes the court house cannon white.

December Fifth

The doors are op'd; we go right in
To see "Icebound" and Johnnie Rynne.

December Fourteenth

To the Football Feed the taxis wheeze.
Good-bye to moral victories.
Harsch is picked, the team to steer
To victory in the coming year.

December Seventeenth

Term papers now our minds engross.
We fill the sheets with bull verbose.

December Twentieth

Now everybody yells in tune,
"Classes all let out at noon."

January Fifth

We leave the old home town once more
To cluster round at Bow'n's door.

January Eighth

The Frosh pay thirty dollars 'cause
They held a dance out at Two Paws.

January Tenth

The gang all shout and yell like sin;
From Beloit we grab a one point win.

January Fourteenth

By bus we travel to Charlotte;
Our team wins; they're going hot.

January Sixteenth

Our Frosh debaters sure are there;
They take two vict'ries with hot air.

January Twentieth

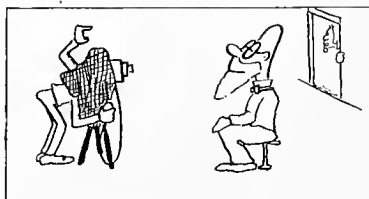

Exams now occupy our mind.
This part just helps to make it rhyme.

February Sixth

Compared to us Ypsi's green,
Score, twenty-two to their fifteen.

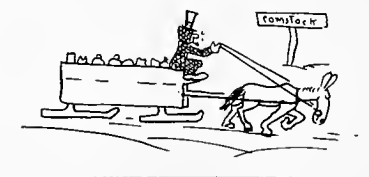

February Eighth

The Profs, including Frost and Bacon,
Go down to get their pictures taken.

February Eleventh

Behind a lonesome, lopeared mule
The Seniors hold a sleighride cool.

February Thirteenth

Our debaters have hot air to spare.
We take two wins, both here and there.

What Pasteurized Milk Is

Milk is the finest and most easily digested of all foods. However, the very fact that it is such a good food makes it very susceptible to contamination by disease germs. Modern conditions require modern methods. The process of making raw milk safe without taking anything from it and adding nothing but safety, is called PASTEURIZATION.

It is accomplished by heating the milk to between 142-145 degrees Fahrenheit for 30 minutes which destroys all disease germs and yet retains the original flavor and nourishment of the original milk. Pasteurized milk is not "boiled milk", neither is it sterilized milk but is milk heated to 142 degrees Fahrenheit, while scalding or boiling is prevented. Such a process requires modern scientific methods and equipment. Pasteurized milk is the only milk that you can be SURE is safe.

HOW TO FILE A COMPLAINT

For those who are dissatisfied with any picture, cartoon, write-up, joke or omission appearing in the 1925 Boiling Pot, the Editors have laid down the following simple regulations which are to be followed in filing an official complaint.

First, make a mental inventory of your reason for complaining; then write a short crisp note to Miss Pauline Byrd, not stating complaint but asking for information. This information will be left in your box in the Co-Op store together with a blank card which you will endorse in triplicate and present to Mr. Thomas Eldred, who will check the card and give you a call slip on Mr. John U. Rynne for the regulation complaint blanks. These blanks are 4x6 slips of pink, yellow, blue, golden-rod and white colors and must be carefully filled out in accordance with the directions given in the booklet—"Research and the Writing of Papers" edited by Doctors Balch and Harper. If after the 20th reading you still do not understand the directions, carefully burn the booklet and scatter the ashes to the four winds. Carefully tabulate all bibliography, outlines, resume, and original material pertaining to your specific complaint, give date of birth, age last birthday, age next birthday, present age, and have complaint sworn at by three witnesses of sound financial standing and present all material to either Miss Teale or Miss Payne. If, in their opinion your complaint is justified they will send you, by registered mail, an application form for an interview with Mr. Leroy Stinebower. Mr. Stinebower may be interviewed any time after eleven P. M. or later if necessary. You will testify before Mr. Stinebower who will present you with a call slip on Miss Pinel for a blank affidavit. This affidavit should be signed, placed in a blank envelope and dropped in the first mail box on the left hand side of the street. After five days Mr. Edwin Gemrich will mail you a cloth sack in which you shall place a small financial offering, to prove your sincerity, and take it to Mr. Gemrich who will give you a pass admitting to the presence of the Boiling Pot Staff in Conference Assembled. Here you will argue your case and if found guilty you will have your pass revoked, your bibliography torn up and your person will be entrusted to Mr. Robert Black who has orders not to be unnecessarily rough in evicting you through the nearest aperture.

We dedicate this little ditty to our esteemed friend Joseph Allison Skeen, alias "Pop", who with undying faithfulness keeps the gym fire. Thus far, no one has been able to find out just where he keeps it.

I'd like to be a janitor,
And with their cohorts stand,
A good black cap upon my head,
An eager, open hand.

There's no hot water? What cares he?
He never takes a shower,
Suppose the place is cold as ice;
He's cozy in his bower;

I wouldn't be a millionaire,
Could I my pathway choose,
I'd rather be a janitor,
And sit all day and snooze.

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE

Kalamazoo College is not a vocational school or a university, but purely a liberal arts college. It provides a first-class college course, with the maximum of personal attention. All students are known to one another and to the faculty members. Conferences with the individual are quite as important in our method as are the class-room sessions. We are resorting more and more to round-table groups, especially in the junior and the senior years. Hence we have a comradeship in the pursuit of knowledge which is almost unique in American colleges.

The aim of the College, therefore, is not in the direction of mass education or of bulk and impressive statistics but solely in the direction of quality. The remarkable success of our students in securing graduate scholarships and academic distinction confirms our faith in the ideal which the College has adopted.

We spend our money mainly to secure and retain a good faculty in the belief that excellent teachers are more important than ornate and expensive buildings. Our courses in Chemistry, Physics, and Economics are vitalized through close co-operation with the local industries and we are doing significant research in several of these fields.

The literary work of the College is enriched by the volunteer effort of the literary societies and drama club. These as well as the glee clubs for men and for women contribute also to the social life of the student body. Physical education and athletics are included as part and parcel of the required curriculum and the work of that department is maintained upon a par with any other. A physical examination is required prior to enrollment in the College.

A vital Christian spirit permeates the institution, making the whole college community like one family and radiating to every place and task to which our students and graduates go. This we do not propose to sacrifice either for larger numbers or for any seeming success, and for the present the size of the student body is limited to four hundred. Those who seek entrance must qualify in scholarship, character, and health, for they are to bear our stamp, our reputation, and our mission to the world.

ALLAN HOBEN.

NEW ERA has dawned for Kalamazoo College. On June 1, 1924, there was brought to a successful conclusion a campaign for $600,000.00 to be added to its endowment. By the end of the present school year, the interest producing assets of the College will go beyond the million dollar mark. When full collections are made on the pledges, which may run until June 1, 1926, we will have an endowment in excess of a million and a quarter.

Just now there is a quiet campaign in the interest of Wills and Annuities. In the past the College has profited very largely from such help. People of means might well remember the College in their wills. Only last spring the College received $50,000.00 as a bequest from Mr. Arthur Tredway of the Class of 1898. It is even better, if large gifts cannot be made outright, to turn the sums at once to the College and to receive from it during the lifetime of the giver, a reasonable interest on the Annuity basis.

Construction on the New Dormitory for Women is well begun. It is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy with the opening of school in September. The Dormitory will house eighty-four young women, have boarding capacity for one hundred and fifty and be modern in every respect.

While the College, to prosper, must continue to have a large per centage of students who can meet their College expenses, it intends to maintain its reputation of being a friend to the worthy young man and young woman who has a passion for an education but is handicapped because of lack of finances. Each year the College dispenses to students approximately twelve thousand dollars from the Student Aid Funds in the form of Scholarship gifts, loans and payments for services rendered.

AN APPRECIATION

The multifarious labors of the BOILING POT publishers are compensated for in large measure by the generosity and disinterested endeavor of those to whom the Editors must turn for assistance. The 1925 BOILING POT Staff make grateful acknowledgment of the fact that their labors have been greatly facilitated, and the petty vexations of the work sensibly diminished, by reason of the unfailing courtesy of the Crescent Engraving Company, C. H. Barnes & Co., Samuel Klesner, Lloyd Coates, Theodore Fandrich, and a host of others, whose unflagging interest and co-operation are epitomized in the merits of the book. Of such measure of approbation as the 1925 BOILING POT may claim, theirs is a liberal share.
